Few Delays For Military Money Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — In sharp contrast to the past two years, the Senate's Pentagon critics have decided on a limited, almost token challenge to the $21 billion bill authorizing funds for military hardware and research.

As a result, barring a long fight over the new version of Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield's amendment to set a date for total U.S. withdrawal from Indochina, the debate will be considerably shorter than those of recent years, improving prospects for early congressional adjournment in November.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., who is organizing the drive to cut the bill, predicted in an interview the bill could be acted on within three weeks. It took twice as long a year ago, and eight weeks in 1969.

The new mood became evident Wednesday, the first full day of debate on the bill, when Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., agreed to a voice vote, rather than a roll-call tally, after just three hours of debate on an amendment to cut $339 million. (Continued on Page 2)

5 New Deputies For Warren County

LEBANON, Ohio (AP) — Five new deputies were scheduled to start work today with the Warren County Sheriff's Department.

The five, veterans of the U.S. armed services, will be paid with funds from the Federal Emergency Employment Program.

Sheriff Ro Wallace said that another seven deputies will be hired within a month as the department is almost doubled in size as a result of the program. His office has had only 14 employees.

He said the new men will be assigned to office duties for about 30 days, but will team with regular deputies to learn procedures.

Woman Justice Pushed By Pat

President's Wife Chats With Press

WASHINGTON (AP) — First Lady Pat Nixon is pushing for a woman on the Supreme Court; she secretly entertained Rose Kennedy, and the only fan letter she ever wrote went to former baseball pitcher Bobo Newsom. That's some of the information gathered during a relaxed plane ride Wednesday with the President's wife on the way home from christening the nuclear-powered guided missile frigate U.S.S. California in Newport, Va.

"Don't you worry," Mrs. Nixon said when asked about the possibility the President may nominate a woman to the nation's highest court, "I'm talking it up."

President Nixon has been getting appeals from several quarters to name a woman to fill Hugo Black's seat.

In case, "they don't get one this time," Mrs. Nixon said her husband has named three women to district court judgeships. "They're grooming them," she said. "They'll be moved up to other courts."

Mrs. Nixon revealed she has been getting a lot of approving letters for her recent television appearance. "Visit with the First Lady" on ABC, from people "in all walks of life."

"They like anything about the White House," she said. Many letters suggested she and her daughters do another show at Christmas, she said.

Mrs. Nixon said her two married daughters have "gotten to be expert cooks." Tricia, whom she said once took four hours to prepare dinner for her husband, "has graduated from one cookbook to another" and may even take on some Harvard courses now that she's doing so well in the kitchen. Her husband, Edward Cox, is attending Harvard Law School.

Henderson Jury Given Time Off

FT. MEADE, Md. (AP) — The jurors trying Col. Oran K. Henderson on charges of attempting to cover up the massacre of civilians at My Lai have the rest of the week off, but Henderson will be in court today for a hearing about a wayward document.

The special hearing is to determine the adequacy of the government's search for a report about My Lai made by Lt. Col. Frank A. Barker soon after an infantry sweep through the South Vietnamese hamlet March 16, 1968.

Henderson's lawyers contend that then Maj. Gen. Samuel W. Koster, the Americal Division commander, ordered a formal investigation into allegations that civilians were killed at My Lai and that Henderson in turn directed Barker to conduct the probe.

Two witnesses have said they saw what may have been Barker's report, including the statements of 15 to 20 witnesses. The government concedes there was such a report but says it has not been able to find it to introduce at Henderson's trial.

The report, Henderson's lawyers say, would do much to disprove one of four charges against the former brigade commander: that he failed to conduct a thorough investigation into the incident.

Barker, who commanded the task force that conducted the My Lai operation, died in a helicopter crash in June 1968.

McGovern Says Rioters 'Hired'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George S. McGovern charged today that rioters who hurled firebombs and stones at him in Saigon last week were hired by the government of South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu.

McGovern's charge was contained in a statement prepared for a Washington news conference to discuss his 10-day trip to Paris, Saigon and Tokyo.

The South Dakota senator, the only declared candidate for the 1972 Democratic presidential nomination, also said the U.S. Army in South Vietnam is "inflicted by a mounting tide of boredom, disgust, antiwar sentiment, racism and drug addiction."

Whatever the solution finally reached on Ohio's pressing money problems, it will be the product of almost exclusive Republican workmanship.

The significant shift in the Legislature's seven-month-old preoccupation with spending, programs and a tax plan for the current biennium came with the announcement by the Gilligan administration Wednesday that efforts to bring

Individuals Get Bigger Share Of Cut

House Panel OKs Tax Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The tax portion of President Nixon's new economic program has won the crucial approval of the House Ways and Means Committee—but in sharply revised form that gives business less and individuals more short-range tax relief.

By rough preliminary estimates, the Democratic-controlled committee's decisions would mean about $4.9 billion less in tax breaks over a three-year span for business and about $3.4 billion more for individuals than Nixon recommended. In the long run, the business relief could increase somewhat.

There is at least a little income tax relief for all individuals in the package approved by the committee Wednesday and scheduled to be voted on by the House about Oct. 6. It would begin showing up in the returns due next April.

Much more relief proportionately would go to low-income taxpayers, those at poverty levels or close to them.

For business, the package includes an investment credit allowing 7 per cent of the cost of equipment to be charged off against taxes and special help for exporters. But the committee would take back part of the gains for business by trimming the special depreciation advantages the Treasury already had put in effect without new legislation.

The 7 per cent excise tax on automobiles and 10 per cent excise tax on light trucks also would be repealed under the bill.

Major provisions affecting individuals: —The personal exemption for this year would be increased from $650 to $675. Instead of increasing to $700 next year, it would go to $750.

—Increased tax benefits for low income persons would begin this year and by 1972 would help some 25 million return-filers, relieving an estimated 1.9 million completely of income tax.

—Next year, a single individual would have to have $2,050 income before owing any tax, a couple $2,800, a family of four $4,300.

—The estimated poverty levels for these categories are $2,170, $2,810 and $4,290.

Most of the individual relief was added by the committee. Nixon had recommended only a speedup of the increase in the personal exemption, to $750 next year instead of a year later.

2-China Policy Gets U.N. Setback

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —The United States has met success and failure in the opening round of its campaign to prevent the expulsion of Nationalist China from the United Nations.

The victory came in getting its two-Chinas proposal recommended Wednesday for the General Assembly agenda, and rounding up a good number of cosponsors for its two resolutions, including Japan.

The first resolution, which calls for the seating of Peking and Taiwan in the General Assembly with Peking getting China's permanent Security Council seat, had 17 cosponsors. The other, which calls for a two-thirds vote instead of a simple majority to pass any resolution to oust Taiwan, had 19.

Hugo Black In Serious Condition

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Supreme Court Justice Hugo Black remains in serious condition from a stroke he suffered Monday, Bethesda Naval Hospital authorities report.

Black, 85, retired last Friday after 34 years on the high court. He was admitted to the hospital Aug. 28 and was being treated for an inflammatory condition of the blood vessels.

It was learned he was also being treated for a sugar problem.

The hospital spokesman said Wednesday that Black suffered the stroke about noon Monday but could not say whether it was a direct result of the blood and sugar ailments.

Black's retirement came with another justice, John M. Harlan, 72, also in a Washington hospital with a back ailment.

President Nixon is expected to announce a nominee to the court to fill Black's spot before it convenes Oct. 4 but Nixon has declined to say who is being considered for the job.

Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., said today he hopes a Southerner will be appointed and that this will not touch off a sectional battle.

The defeat was in the Steering Committee session, which recommended that both the U.S. proposal and a rival Albanian-sponsored resolution to seat the Communists and oust the Nationalists be placed on the agenda, but as separate items. The Albanian resolution had 18 cosponsors.

The committee voted down a

U.S. motion that they be combined for debate by a 12-9 tally with 3 abstentions. This meant the assembly was being advised to debate the Albanian resolution before the American one. However, U.N. precedent indicated both would be debated under the Albanian resolution's title.

The Albanian resolution was recommended for the agenda 17 to 2 with 4 abstentions.

The U.S. two-Chinas proposal was recommended 11 to 9 with 4 abstentions.

Taiwan's Foreign Ministry issued a statement after the vote criticizing the U.S. resolution and declaring the Nationalist government is "firmly opposed."

U.S. Jets Hit Fuel Dumps, Not Guns, Officials Admit

SAIGON (AP) — The massive U.S. air raids Lsude North Vietnam's southern panhandle two days ago were ordered by President Nixon primarily against fuel dumps to blunt a dry-season push outposts and supplies southward, official sources said today.

The U.S. Command, in announcing the strikes, initially said they were directed against surface-to-air missile—SAM—sites and antiaircraft guns firing on American reconnaissance planes flying over North Vietnam and bombers attacking the Ho Chi Minh trail supply network in Laos.

The U.S. Command acknowledged today, in a second communique, that the 200 air strikes in an area running 35 miles north from the demilitarized zone included attacks on fuel storage depots. Official sources outside the command said they were the primary targets and today's communique, reporting damage assessment, dealt mainly with the fuel storage depots rather than the antiaircraft defenses.

The sources said that the nature of the strikes meant that they had to be ordered by the highest authority, meaning the President.

The sources said the attacks did not represent an expansion of the "protective reaction" policy in that three previous major strikes since May 1, 1970, were similar. The official reason given for the previous strikes was that they were primarily against antiaircraft defenses, although the bombers attacked scores of other targets including supply depots and trucks.

"Look at the past protective reactions of this size," said one source. "You see the sort of targets undertaken and the pattern that has developed."

Communist negotiators canceled today's session of the Paris peace talks to protest the raids.

The command said today that pilots "reported numerous large sustained fires and heavy black smoke which indicated that strikes on POL—petroleum, oil, and lubricants—storage areas had been successful."

"In addition," the communique said, "three air defense radars were put out of commission. An accurate assessment was hampered by heavy smoke and weather conditions."

Post Office Putting Bite On Owners Of Nasty Dogs

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — The U.S. Post Office is putting the bite on dog owners whose pets chew on letter carriers.

Since July 1, the Post Office has been authorized by law to bill dog owners the cost of treating postal employees bitten while on their rounds.

The Newark Post Office has five such cases pending, including one for $2,100 against a family whose dog tore a mailman's leg and put him out of work for six weeks.

"I don't know what it is," said Newark Postmaster Joseph Bennici. "A dog sees a mailman and goes wild."

Every year in the United States, 20,000 mailmen are bitten by dogs the Post Office says. The problem is worst in suburban areas.

Postal officials blame the increasing use of guard dogs for some of the troubles. Unfortunately, they say, the guard dogs are doing their thing to mailmen as well as to burglars.

Most mailmen nowadays are equipped with dog repellent that causes at least five seconds of eye irritation.

Local post offices are also authorized to stop delivery to families whose pets have attacked mailmen. The household is notified that unless the dog is leashed at mail delivery time, service to the home will stop.

"The trouble with that," said Jersey City Postal Supervisor Harry Brophy, "is that sometimes you even get bitten when you deliver the notice that service is stopping."

Bennici adds: "It's not only the pain of being bitten that hurts."

"It's a question of negligence. There's not only the cost of medical treatment, tetanus shots and sometimes sutures, but the loss in salary for the employee who gets bitten."

When a dog bites a letter carrier, the owner is billed for the damages. The owner is given 15 days of pay or orofit his insurance company.

"It's a funny thing," Bennici said, "I've got a dog at home, too, and every time he sees the mailman, look out."

Student Fee Hike Plan To Stick

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Regents Chancellor John D. Millett said Thursday the interim budget passed Wednesday by the legislature does not roll back university fee increases approved by the Board of Regents earlier this month.

Millett said he had "received assurances that it was not the intent of the Ohio General Assembly . . . to reverse the action of the Board of Regents Sept. 17 in approving instructional fee increases for the autumn quarter."

He added that this interpretation of the latest interim budget "was clearly understood by the conferees of the House and Senate in consideration of the legislation."

Officer Suspended For Bad Behavior

CINCINNATI (AP) — Sgt. Donald Miller, an 18-year veteran of the Cincinnati Police Department, has been suspended for bad behavior.

Police Chief Carl Goodin said Wednesday that Miller was suspended as the result of an incident Monday night. He did not comment specifically on what prompted the suspension.

He added that this interpretation of the latest interim budget "was clearly understood by the conferees of the House and Senate in consideration of the legislation."

Gilligan Says Budget Fate Now Up To GOP

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Democratic party rank and file, and organized labor, together in support of a statewide, graduated income tax had failed.

"We are at an end," the governor admitted. "We have produced every plan conceivable. It is now up to the Legislature, and particularly the Republican majority."

"The Republicans asked the people of this state for a majority in both houses of the General Assembly, and received that majority. The Republicans have the votes to pass any budget and any tax bill they want to pass. There is no excuse for their not acting."

The governor blamed both industrial interests and labor groups in the state for the collapse of his drive for an income tax. He described the attitude of both groups as "the public be damned."

Still, he argued, "every member of the Legislature knows that Ohio needs hundreds of millions of dollars in new revenues. And virtually every member of the Legislature knows full well that the fairest way to raise that revenue is to base a tax program on ability to pay."

The question of revenue to pay for state operations has been an acute one for the Legislature since the fiscal year began July 1 without benefit of any permanent tax or budget legislation.

Ohio has been in a financial straightjacket ever since, with bills being paid on an interim basis.

The state's fifth interim appropriation — good for the most part only through the end of September — was passed by the Legislature and signed by the governor late Wednesday. It totaled $151.6 million, in-

Immediate Ban On DDT Eyed By U.S. Agency

Federal Court Orders Consideration Barring Pesticide

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal court has told the Environmental Protection Agency to consider an immediate ban on DDT, because the long-lasting pesticide threatens man's environment.

The U.S. Court of Appeals, in a brief order issued Wednesday, gave EPA until Nov. 1 to explain its reasons for either agreeing or refusing to suspend federal registration of DDT.

The court order was a rerun of the situation EPA faced earlier this year but with one major difference—a scientific panel has now suggested a possible legal basis for the immediate ban which the agency earlier refused.

The order followed an appeal by the Environmental Defense Fund, a citizens' group seeking an immediate and virtually complete ban on further use of DDT. The appeal came after EPA Administrator William D. Ruckelshaus announced last March that the agency found no evidence of "an imminent hazard to the public," the legal basis for banning use of the pesticide.

Bennici adds: "It's not only the pain of being bitten that hurts."

"It's a question of negligence. There's not only the cost of medical treatment, tetanus shots and sometimes sutures, but the loss in salary for the employee who gets bitten."

When a dog bites a letter carrier, the owner is billed for the damages. The owner is given 15 days of pay or notify his insurance company.

"It's a funny thing," Bennici said, "I've got a dog at home, too, and every time he sees the mailman, look out."

Student Fee Hike Plan To Stick

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Regents Chancellor John D. Millett said Thursday the interim budget passed Wednesday by the legislature does not roll back university fee increases approved by the Board of Regents earlier this month.

Millett said he had "received assurances that it was not the intent of the Ohio General Assembly . . . to reverse the action of the Board of Regents Sept. 17 in approving instructional fee increases for the autumn quarter."

He added that this interpretation of the latest interim budget "was clearly understood by the conferees of the House and Senate in consideration of the legislation."

Immediate Ban On DDT Eyed By U.S. Agency

Federal Court Orders Consideration Barring Pesticide

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal court has told the Environmental Protection Agency to consider an immediate ban on DDT, because the long-lasting pesticide threatens man's environment.

The U.S. Court of Appeals, in a brief order issued Wednesday, gave EPA until Nov. 1 to explain its reasons for either agreeing or refusing to suspend federal registration of DDT.

The court order was a rerun of the situation EPA faced earlier this year but with one major difference—a scientific panel has now suggested a possible legal basis for the immediate ban which the agency earlier refused.

The order followed an appeal by the Environmental Defense Fund, a citizens' group seeking an immediate and virtually complete ban on further use of DDT. The appeal came after EPA Administrator William D. Ruckelshaus announced last March that the agency found no evidence of "an imminent hazard to the public," the legal basis for banning use of the pesticide.

Gilligan Says Budget Fate Now Up To GOP

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Whatever the solution finally reached on Ohio's pressing money problems, it will be the product of almost exclusive Republican workmanship.

The significant shift in the Legislature's seven-month-old preoccupation with spending programs and a tax plan for the current biennium came with the announcement by the Gilligan administration Wednesday that efforts to bring the Democratic party rank and file, and organized labor, together in support of a statewide, graduated income tax had failed.

"We are at an end," the governor admitted. "We have produced every plan conceivable. It is now up to the Legislature, and particularly the Republican majority."

"The Republicans asked the people of this state for a majority in both houses of the General Assembly, and received that majority. The Republicans have the votes to pass any budget and any tax bill they want to pass. There is no excuse for their not acting."

The governor blamed both industrial interests and labor groups in the state for the collapse of his drive for an income tax. He described the attitude of both groups as "the public be damned."

Still, he argued, "every member of the Legislature knows that Ohio needs hundreds of millions of dollars in new revenues. And virtually every member of the Legislature knows full well that the fairest way to raise that revenue is to base a tax program on ability to pay."

The question of revenue to pay for state operations has been an acute one for the Legislature since the fiscal year began July 1 without benefit of any permanent tax or budget legislation. Ohio has been in a financial straightjacket ever since, with bills being paid on an interim basis.

The state's fifth interim appropriation — good for the most part only through the end of September — was passed by the Legislature and signed by the governor late Wednesday. It totaled $151.6 million, included an investment credit allowing 7 per cent of the cost of equipment to be charged off against taxes and special help for exporters. But the committee would take back part of the gains for business by trimming the special depreciation advantages the Treasury already had put in effect without new legislation.

The 7 per cent excise tax on automobiles and 10 per cent excise tax on light trucks also would be repealed under the bill.

lion of the $370 million in the bill for the B1 advanced bomber.

"We made a head count and it showed we didn't have the votes," McGovern said. "I just don't see the point of going through a lengthy exercise."

Similarly, there are indications that two bitter unsuccessful efforts to stop the Safeguard missile defense system have taken their toll and that this year, only a limited effort will be made to slow anti-ballistic missile (ABM) defense deployment. Time limits will be accepted on most amendments, Proxmire said.

Those close to the military procurement debate say many senators feel another lengthy debate on the military procurement bill would be futile, noting that in the past most major efforts to trim the Pentagon budget have been beaten.

In addition, the Armed Services Committee is giving increasingly strict scrutiny to Pentagon requests, limiting some major projects and echoing the call by critics for economy in defense spending.

Stock List Down Again

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices, which dropped sharply Wednesday, declined on a broad front again today. Trading was moderately active.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, which tumbled 9.85 points Wednesday, was off 2.05 at 891.50 by noon today. Declines led advances on the New York Stock Exchange by about 5 to 2.

Analysts continued to blame the market's weakness largely on uncertainty about the second phase of the Nixon administration's anti-inflationary program. There was also some hesitation stemming from President Nixon's upcoming question-and-answer news session about the economy tonight in Detroit, they said.

Other possible depressants, according to observers, were the troubled international monetary situation, news that consumer prices rose in August at an accelerated rate, and that durable goods orders fell last month after three straight months of advance.

Air Guard Unit Moves To LAFB

The men, aircraft and equipment of the 160th Air Refueling Group (TAC), Ohio Air National Guard have begun leaving Clinton County AFB, Ohio, and arriving at the unit's new home, Lockbourne AFB.

The move ends a 10-year tour of duty for the unit at Clinton County AFB.

The 160th ARG, commanded by Col. Frank H. Cattran, is scheduled to be settled at Lockbourne by the end of September. By the end of the month the unit's 750 Air Force members and 150 civilian employees should be back on regular work schedules.

The 160th ARG will operate eight KC-97 air refueling aircraft out of Lockbourne and use them to refuel active duty aircraft. They will work closely with the 121st Tactical Fighter Wing at the base and also perform refueling missions over New York, Massachusetts and Indiana.

The 160th presently keeps four KC-97s on rotation in Germany. Those planes stage refueling missions from Rhein Main Air Base, Frankfurt, Germany. These rotational aircraft operate on 12-week shifts, with one plane being replaced every two weeks.

Charges Filed After Accident

The investigation of a minor traffic accident occurring 6:15 p.m. Wednesday brought additional charges of contributing to the delinquency of a minor to a New Lexington man and intoxication and contributing to a passenger in his car.

According to Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy Lowell Ferguson, Paul B. Green Jr., New Lexington, was driving on State Route 159, seven miles southeast of Circleville, while letting a young girl steer the car.

They allegedly forced a car driven by Charlotte Kerr, Lancaster, off the road. When Ferguson arrived at the scene, both cars were moved.

Ferguson apprehended Green and charged him with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of an intoxicant and resisting arrest.

After bringing Green and his passengers, the minor girl and Donald Kinney, to the Sheriff's Department, further charges of contributing were filed against him.

Kinney was also charged with intoxication and contributing.

Pacification Program Slips As Vietnam Election Nears

SAIGON (AP) — For the first time since the enemy Tet offensive of 1968, Saigon's control of the South Vietnamese countryside has slipped and U.S. experts attribute this largely to efforts to get President Nguyen Van Thieu re-elected.

Statistics released Thursday show a nationwide three-tenths of one per cent reduction in government control of the population, with a corresponding increase of one-tenth of one per cent in persons living in contested areas and one-tenth of a per cent in persons living in hamlets under Viet Cong control. The other tenth of a per cent was not evaluated.

While some sources discounted the slippage as not great enough to be significant, a senior official of the U.S. pacification advisory program

Are you concerned about supporting your son or daughter in the important task of growing up? "If you are like most parents, you surely are," says Harold Hewitt, director of the Pickaway County Family YMCA. And here is a great opportunity to express this deep concern by joining the YMCA's father and son, father-daughter program called the Y-Indian Guides.

You can learn the full story of — Indian Guides 7 p.m. Thursday at the YMCA. The organization pow-wow will give big braves the opportunity to organize new tribes or join one of the eleven existing tribes.

It is a program for the busy, but thinking father who wants to spend more time with his son or daughter. It is the fastest growing program in the YMCA today. More than 435,000 fathers and sons are involved in this program throughout the nation. Locally, there are eleven tribes, involving over 145 fathers and sons.

Y-Indian Guides is a program in which fathers and sons participate together in small groups known as tribes. Its purpose is to multiply the number of things that fathers and sons can do together, such as crafts, hiking, camping trips, cookouts, stories, games, and hobbies.

The YMCA believes that comradeship of fathers and sons has mutual advantages that strengthen the family and enrich the community. Tribes meet in homes usually with 6 to 9 families involved. Boys six years of age and older can belong with their fathers.

Immediate Ban

The court's action Wednesday came after a report disclosed by a scientific panel commissioned by EPA to study the effects of DDT.

The panel quoted an EPA policy statement defining "imminent hazard" to include not only direct danger to public health, but also "significant injury or potential injury to plants or animals alone."

It concluded that the present level of DDT use "does not present an imminent hazard to human health in terms of individual bodily functions and safety."

But it added that DDT and its products "present a substantial threat to the quality of the human environment" and are "an imminent hazard to human welfare in terms of maintaining healthy desirable flora and fauna in man's environment."

In the light of that report, the court sent the case back to EPA with instructions to reconsider its earlier rejection of an immediate ban, and to explain its new decision by Nov. 1.

Hospital Business Drops To Lowest During August

Business is brightening a bit at Berger Hospital where the lowest record of occupation was reached last month.

During August, use of hospital facilities dropped to a discouraging mark just above 50 per cent. The entire month's operation led to a deficit in the hospital accounting. A substantial reason for the fall in patients was a number of vacationing physicians.

A more promising note was reported for September to members of Berger's governing board Wednesday evening. Occupancy to date stands at 70 per cent.

Most discussion at the board meeting was centered on the hospital's expansion and remodeling plans. Henry Schroeder, Dr. F. W. Anderson and Robert Huffer, as members of the Building and Equipment Committee, offered three recommendations stating the board's stand on the program, to which members gave their approval.

At the committee's recommendation, the board of governors have authorized that Berger Hospital will offer a minimum of 70 beds for use by 1975 and the building program which they promote will be made adaptable to future planning so additions at a later date can be made easily.

They took immediate action to meet with a hospital architect, Dan Carmichael, at noon today, to make a firm agreement for building plans to be drawn up.

These drawings would allow the board to study what would be physically possible in expanding the present hospital to meet projected state standards of operation. Earlier the group had received a feasibility report from Mid-Ohio Health Planning Council, outlining possible remodeling of the present rooms and arrangement of research and technical facilities to best serve hospital employees and patients.

Carmichael was the architect who planned the medical-surgical wing of the hospital built about 1956.

A good report was given on the emergency room coverage. The 880 patients seen during August set a new record for business in that area, even though the record of bed patients was so low. To handle the activity here, five new physicians from the ERMA group were accepted to the visiting medical staff, making a total of 13 now actively involved in the program here.

Staffing at the hospital now is extremely good, Reid noted. With 25 nurses employed full-time he is finding difficulties in placing part-time nursing employees to meet the hours they worked before.

JOY Myers, general guild chairman, noted that all guilds had reorganized and this year had a total of 366 members participating.

Present at the board meeting were Mayor Richard Gerhardt, Reid, Bob Huffer, Harry Clifton, Howard Koch, Dr. Phillips, Henry Schroeder, Dr. Carlos Alvarez and Mrs. Myers.

The suit was filed today in the county court by the State Automobile Mutual Insurance Co., seeking $4,261, the premium which the company paid to the city for loss of equipment on the fire vehicle. Insurance on the pumper itself was purchased through another insurance company.

Causey was driver of the truck which struck the pumper. Three charges, two of vehicular homicide and one of reckless operation, are pending against him in Municipal Court. All three cases are slated to be heard next Thursday in the first jury trial to be held in the municipal courtroom in its 17 year history.

lion of the $370 million in the bill for the B1 advanced bomber.

"We made a head count and it showed we didn't have the votes," McGovern said. "I just don't see the point of going through a lengthy exercise."

Similarly, there are indications that two bitter unsuccessful efforts to stop the Safeguard missile defense system have taken their toll and that this year, only a limited effort will be made to slow anti-ballistic missile (ABM) defense deployment. Time limits will be accepted on most amendments, Proxmire said.

Those close to the military procurement debate say many senators feel another lengthy debate on the military procurement bill would be futile, noting that in the past most major efforts to trim the Pentagon budget have been beaten.

In addition, the Armed Services Committee is giving increasingly strict scrutiny to Pentagon requests, limiting some major projects and echoing the call by critics for economy in defense spending.

Pacification Program Slips As Vietnam Election Nears

SAIGON (AP) — For the first time since the enemy Tet offensive of 1968, Saigon's control of the South Vietnamese countryside has slipped and U.S. experts attribute this largely to efforts to get President Nguyen Van Thieu re-elected.

Statistics released Thursday show a nationwide three-tenths of one per cent reduction in government control of the population, with a corresponding increase of one-tenth of one per cent in persons living in contested areas and one-tenth of a per cent in persons living in hamlets under Viet Cong control. The other tenth of a per cent was not evaluated.

While some sources discounted the slippage as not great enough to be significant, a senior official of the U.S. pacification advisory program termed it "disturbing" because it reversed the government's steady upward trend of the last three years.

At the same time, American analysts said the preoccupation of South Vietnamese officials with getting Thieu re-elected Oct. 3 had pushed aside most other priorities and plunged the pacification effort into a three-month state of "virtual paralysis." Thieu is unopposed in the election, but he has said he will step down if he gets less than 50 per cent of the vote.

While enemy political activity is considered to be a factor in the deterioration, the election is said by many Americans in the U.S. pacification advisory unit to be much more important.

"Nobody at the province level or below seems to give a damn about anything except making sure Thieu makes a good showing," said one U.S. expert.

"They are putting all their efforts into that. Their jobs depend on it. Meanwhile, pacification is going to hell."

Another American said the security situation had deteriorated to the point where, in his view, nothing was moving forward in South Vietnam "except the Viet Cong."

Embittered Pilot Quotes Verse

LONDON (AP) — Heathrow Airport officials went scurrying for their Bibles today when a Royal Air Force pilot brought down an Old Testament curse from the mid-Atlantic skies.

The VC10 pilot was on a Newfoundland to London when he was asked to stop in Keflavik, Iceland, to pick up equipment.

"Deuteronomy, Chapter 27, Verse 18," the pilot radioed back.

Airport thumbs flicked through the pages and got the message:

"Cursed be he that maketh the blind to wander out of the way."

The court's action Wednesday came after a report disclosed by a scientific panel commissioned by EPA to study the effects of DDT.

The panel quoted an EPA policy statement defining "imminent hazard" to include not only direct danger to public health, but also "significant injury or potential injury to plants or animals alone."

It concluded that the present level of DDT use "does not present an imminent hazard to human health in terms of individual bodily functions and safety."

But it added that DDT and its products "present a substantial threat to the quality of the human environment" and are "an imminent hazard to human welfare in terms of maintaining healthy desirable flora and fauna in man's environment."

In the light of that report, the court sent the case back to EPA with instructions to reconsider its earlier rejection of an immediate ban, and to explain its new decision by Nov. 1.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

3-Time Widow Thinks She's A Jinx

DEAR ABBY: I am a 57-year-old man who is absolutely crazy mad, wild and dilly over a 55-year-old widow who makes me feel like a teen-ager!

This woman is beautiful, warm, responsive, intelligent, and she says she loves me as much as I love her. So what's the problem? She won't marry me!

Her reason: She has buried three husbands, and she says she is a "jinx" to a man. She says she will continue to date me, she will travel with me, and she won't marry me or anybody else as long as she lives because she cannot go through burying another husband. Abby, I am in perfect health, and I am not planning on dying.

So what advice have you for a man who wants a wife and not a mistress?

WALKING ON AIR
DEAR ABBY: Keep walking.

DEAR ABBY: This problem concerns my wife. She thinks it is against the Bible to have sex in the day time. And it has got to be real dark or it's no go.

Another thing, when she goes outside, no matter what the weather is like she buttons herself up and always has a coat on. I am losing patience with this woman. Can you help me?

HAD IT IN THE SOONER STATE

DEAR HAD IT: Ask your wife to show you where in the Bible it says sex is forbidden in the day time. And since she's religious, maybe your clergyman can talk to her. And it wouldn't hurt to have the doctor check her over, too.

DEAR ABBY: The many letters you print from widows who complain that they are lonely, neglected and forgotten, prompts me to write.

I lost my husband nearly a year ago. We had been married for 35 years, and, Abby, there are not enough hours in the day to do all the things I'd like to do. Since his death (he had been ill for two years) I have returned to church activities, volunteer work and keep busy with lectures, art, antiques and helping others.

I invite my friends in for dinner, and I'm not hung up on having a balanced table with an equal number of men and women. I am more concerned with good companionship and conversation. I'm not looking for dates, but if I were, I'm sure that wouldn't be a problem.

I am not saying I never have moments of loneliness. I have. But no widow has to be chronically lonely if she makes an effort to keep busy and active instead of sitting home and expecting others to invite her out.

NO TIME FOR LONELINESS
DEAR NO TIME: Not every widow has your get up and go, but thank you for an inspiring letter.

DEAR ABBY: Three cheers for the 14-year-old adopted girl who wrote the letter exploding the myth about the "other" mother.

Too many bad movies, tearful novels and hysterical TV shows have depicted the adopted child as traumatically disappearing into the foggy night to search for his or her "real" mother.

Baloney!
I, too, was adopted over 40 years ago when I was an infant. My "real" parents were those two wonderful people who gave me their name, their home, their loving care and their discipline. That they were not my biological parents mattered not one bit.

An adopted child with loving parents has no "other" mother.

OU Picketed By Employees Despite Court

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Pickets were posted across the Ohio University campus early today despite a court order issued late Wednesday to halt a strike by the school's 1,500 non-academic employees.

Between 100 and 200 pickets took positions in front of campus buildings about 5:30 a.m.

University officials said they were waiting to make sure the pickets knew of the court order before taking action that could lead to arrests.

The order was issued by Athens County Common Pleas Court Judge Lowell Howard restraining Local 1699 of the American Federation of State County and Municipal Employees from engaging in any strike or work stoppage.

The local represents about 900 of the university's non-academic work force.

Howard scheduled a preliminary hearing Saturday.

University officials requested the court order after the union announced strike plans Wednesday afternoon.

Oscar McGee, the local president, said the strike was called because of the university's failure to act on a number of grievances which have accumulated over the past three months.

The primary complaint, McGee said, is over what the union considers discrimination against 42 women laid off during the summer.

McGee said the layoffs, allegedly without notice and with no regard to seniority, "in no way conforms" with the union's agreement with the school.

After the union notified the university of its strike plans, Ward Wilson, Ohio University personnel director, sent McGee a telegram saying:

"Ohio law and article five of your agreement with us prohibits all strikes at Ohio University... Anyone who participates in the threatened strike will subject himself to all appropriate measures and remedies available to the university under our agreement and Ohio law."

NEW YORK (AP) — Some weird things are turning up on Rod Sterling's "Night Gallery," this season expanded into a weekly series.

Tacked on the end of NBC's Wednesday night schedule, the hour seems to be the flip side of "Love, American Style," a number of short, unrelated pieces but with the macabre substituted for love and gruesome for comedy.

The most recent contribution opened with E. G. Marshall playing a gentle funeral home proprietor who collected corpses. Another long segment had Vincent Price play a professor training a seminar of robot students to become racists and bigots. Its message was lost in the shuffle.

There were two short black-outs. One, which telegraphed its ending early, had Imogene Coca building herself a suicide cell. The other, presumably designed for grisly humor, involved cannibalism.

Maybe the whole thing is in fun. But for some the program seemed a tasteless exercise in horror, light years away from the sort of thing Alfred Hitchcock produced with sly grace.

Earlier, also on NBC, Marshall Sam McCloud reappeared—still a determined, match-chevring country lawman outwitting the big city criminals and even the city police department to which he is temporarily assigned.

Dennis Weaver's show, now 90 minutes long, is one of the three rotating segments "Mystery Movie." The gimmick of McCloud is the innocent deceptive way the New Mexico marshal questions the suspects. However, the awkward dialogue given to Weaver would have made even a juvenile delinquent suspect what he was up to.

The first of the season's McCloud shows had the hero exposing a complicated scheme involving an astrologer, his wealthy wife, a kidnaper and a time bomb. Sebastian Cabot played the villain, but it was hard to believe in him after all those seasons when he was the loveable gentlemen's gentleman of "Family Affair."

Carol Burnett and her company of comedians have moved to an earlier time period on CBS but are keeping the same format. It opens with her question-and-answer period with the audience and moves into a show strong in sketches laced with musical numbers. Most pleasant interlude of the evening Wednesday was a Burt Bacharach medley by Carol and the Carpenters. Dreamer was an operating room sketch with Tim Conway overdoing things as a senile, palsied surgeon.

Carol's clothes, a highlight for the female audience, are more chic and elegant than ever.

NCR Notified Of Strike Date

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — The United Auto Workers notified the National Cash Register Co. Wednesday its 9,000 members will strike Oct. 10 if agreement is not reached by then on a new contract.

The employees have been working without a contract since Sept. 1. / Meanwhile, the company announced that "several hundred" workers in nonmanufacturing areas probably will be laid off as a result of a cost reduction program it is starting.

Dennis Weaver's show, now 90 minutes long, is one of the three rotating segments "Mystery Movie." The gimmick of McCloud is the innocent deceptive way the New Mexico marshal questions the suspects.

However, the awkward dialogue given to Weaver would have made even a juvenile delinquent suspect what he was up to.

The first of the season's McCloud shows had the hero exposing a complicated scheme involving an astrologer, his wealthy wife, a kidnaper and a time bomb. Sebastian Cabot played the villain, but it was hard to believe in him after all those seasons when he was the loveable gentlemen's gentleman of "Family Affair."

Carol Burnett and her company of comedians have moved to an earlier time period on CBS but are keeping the same format. It opens with her question-and-answer period with the audience and moves into a show strong in sketches laced with musical numbers. Most pleasant interlude of the evening Wednesday was a Burt Bacharach medley by Carol and the Carpenters. Drearist was an operating room sketch with Tim Conway overdoing things as a senile, palsied surgeon.

Carol's clothes, a highlight for the female audience, are more chic and elegant than ever.

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — Hamilton motorists could have direct access to Ohio's interstate highway system in about five years, according to estimate by Robert Bevis, deputy director of division eight of the Ohio Highway Department.

He said Wednesday that the proposed $38 million connector to Interstate 75 and 71 should be done by that time with "everything going according to schedule with no hitches and assuming funds are available."

NEW YORK (AP) — Some weird things are turning up on Rod Sterling's "Night Gallery," this season expanded into a weekly series.

Tacked on the end of NBC's Wednesday night schedule, the hour seems to be the flip side of "Love, American Style," a number of short, unrelated pieces but with the macabre substituted for love and gruesome for comedy.

The most recent contribution opened with E. G. Marshall playing a gentle funeral home proprietor who collected corpses. Another long segment had Vincent Price play a professor training a seminar of robot students to become racists and bigots. Its message was lost in the shuffle.

There were two short black-outs. One, which telegraphed its ending early, had Imogene Coca building herself a suicide cell. The other, presumably designed for grisly humor, involved cannibalism.

Maybe the whole thing is in fun. But for some the program seemed a tasteless exercise in horror, light years away from the sort of thing Alfred Hitchcock produced with sly grace.

Earlier, also on NBC, Marshall Sam McCloud reappeared—still a determined, match-chewing country lawman outwitting the big city criminals and even the city police

Employable Degrees

As if educational institutions, particularly colleges and universities, did not have enough crises to overcome, they have been handed another one by the rapidly changing national vocational requirements.

It is a matter of fitting graduates to a changing demand in the labor force.

Aerospace engineers and teachers are not in great demand this year, but the colleges are still turning them out faster than the economy can absorb them. The ranks of teachers in particular could become seriously overcrowded for the first time in decades, as the population levels off after the World War II baby boom.

The number of children entering elementary grades already is showing a decline in some large communities.

But there are other professions where the number of graduates is far in excess of the number of job vacancies.

A study by the U.S. Labor Department indicates almost 17,000 persons will be receiving bachelor degrees in economics each year of this decade, but will be competing for only 2,200 new jobs each year in their field.

Similarly, 41,000 history majors will graduate each year of the '70s — to face only 800 new openings each year for historians. Vocational and academic counseling suddenly take on added meaning, to help channel interests and aptitudes into employable degrees.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Now that new housing is rising at a record rate of more than two million units a year, the furniture industry is gearing up for a boom such as few other industries can look forward to.

Maybe the boom will never be heard; similar forecasts have been made for other industries only to be thwarted by reluctant consumers and unforeseen twists in the market. But the prospects are unusually good.

Everything considered, a number of different factors are falling into place.

The population mix, savings rate, incomes, and personal styles are important elements in the outlook. Internal changes, such as mergers and new distribution methods, are exploiting these elements.

The most important factor, as usual, is the number of housing units going up. Traditionally, furniture sales have shown a curve similar to housing after a lag of one to 1½ years.

Now there are indications that furniture sales may rise even more than housing starts.

Among the reasons: —Should the economy be re-stabilized and inflation wrung out, the buying power of many Americans may rise even faster than incomes.

—The savings rate is at an unusually high level, better than 8 per cent of take-home pay. While consumers remain reluctant to lower that rate—spend the money, that is—experience suggests they cannot hold out much longer.

Compared with recent years, the ratio of installment debt to income is relatively low. Just as there are savings in the bank, there is credit at the bank too.

Moreover, a study by the Chase Manhattan Bank notes: —The number of households in the 25-34 age group, the highest spenders on home furnishings, will increase by 52 per cent in the decade of the 1970s.

—The percentage of families with incomes of more than $15,000 will almost double from 22 per cent in 1970 to 38 per cent in 1980. And those are comparable—not inflated—dollars.

—The number of families in the 25-34 age group with incomes of more than $15,000 is projected to surge from 1.6 million to 6 million in 1980.

Presented with such demographic and income factors, the industry is gradually modernizing. Attempts are being made to speed deliveries which, as most purchasers know, can be maddeningly slow and inefficient.

Delays of three months or so are still common, partly because of the small size of many manufacturers. The Chase study found 6,700 companies making carpets, beds and furniture, and three-fifths of them employed fewer than 20 workers.

New marketing methods already are evident in newspaper ads. Entire rooms are being sold instead of individual items. Because of their greater size, single manufacturers soon will be able to market pictures, rugs and lamps as well as the bed, dresser and nighttable.

CLAUDETTE COLBERT and Sir Noel Coward are old friends who admire each other unreservedly, but they did get into a bit of a hassle when Sir Noel was directing her in a TV version of his comedy, "Blithe Spirit."

Claudette was reading her part from a script at a late rehearsal and Sir Noel opined, "I should think you'd have it letter perfect by now." Claudette snapped, "For heaven's sake, I know it backwards." "And that, darling," retorted Sir Noel happily, "is the way you're reading it!"

Tom Rees, youthful congressman from Beverly Hills in Washington, told Columnist Nick Von Hoffman he's convinced there's a lot of reforming to be done in the House of Representatives — particularly regarding the stultifying seniority rules. "If ever there was a lost generation," grumbled young Mr. Rees, "we are it. The kids don't trust anyone over 30 and the old bull elephants of the House don't trust anyone under 60. Those of us in between are the limbo generation. The seniority system is so 100 per cent inflexible, it covers everything on Capitol Hill except the use of public restrooms. There, at least, we have equal rights!"

Add to the list of husbands who appreciated the merits of their mates Novelist Harry Leon Wilson. "My wife," he boasted once, "could fight a rattlesnake—and give it the first two bites!"

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Is there much difference in the amount of caffeine in coffee than tea?

Mrs. J.D., N. C.

Dear Mrs. D.: It is estimated that about one and one-half grains of caffeine are found in a strong cup of coffee. Almost the exact amount is found in a cup of strong tea.

Caffeine in coffee is almost identical to the same, from the chemical point of view, as is the "theine" that is found in tea.

Only recently, a letter from Mr. Jeffrey Gudson, a pharmacist in New London, Conn., pointed out the similarity of the amount of caffeine in coffee and in tea. He also pointed out that caffeine exists in about a quarter of these amounts in some form of soda and even in a cup of cocoa.

This is valuable information for those who unwittingly are consuming caffeine.

I have had numerous electrocardiograms and chest X-rays. All these are negative yet when I walk up the slightest incline my heart beats fast and I gasp for breath.

I am an extremely nervous person, 38 years old, and I am dreadfully worried about this.

Mrs. D. V., Ill.

Dear Mrs. V.: To outline all the other causes for shortness of breath and heart palpitations would only further increase your anxiety about conditions that probably do not exist.

It is not unusual for people who are not in excellent physical condition, especially those who do little or no exercise, to have these symptoms.

The fact that your general condition is excellent must give you did mention that you are not in any imminent danger of becoming an invalid.

You did mention that you are 38 years old and that this is a constant fear. Perhaps you should again discuss your emotional tensions with your doctor and find out if these may in themselves be responsible for making the symptoms worse.

There are many new studies by which the ventilation of the lungs can now be studied. The breathing capacity can be tested along with chemical studies to track down the cause of your symptoms. It is not unusual for highly tense people to overbreathe. This is known as hyperventilation, and can cause the symptoms you describe.

I am 20 years old and have bow legs. Is it too late to correct them even if they are not very noticeable?

Miss K.T., Nev.

Dear Miss K.: You would be doing yourself a great injustice if you were to get involved in this procedure without following the specific advice of your doctor or an orthopedic specialist.

End Of An Era

By JEFFERY HART

The report that "welfare reform" — translation: vastly increased Federal welfare funding — is dead in Congress almost certainly represents much more than a crystallization of public opinion against one particular proposal. True enough, public opinion was nudged here by the remarkable events this summer in New York, where some 20 per cent of welfare recipients have continued to fail to pick up their checks, thus totally discrediting the claim of the welfare establishment that only 1 or 2 per cent of the recipients are ineligible or fraudulent. Still, particular abuses can be corrected or minimized. The doubts go much deeper, and are conceptual in character. At the very least we have passed beyond the Age of Innocence where social legislation is concerned, for the evidence is accumulating that program after program, undertaken with the best of intentions, not only fails to solve the problem for which it was designed, but, worse, goes on to create new problems which previously did not exist.

Consider the experience in New York. In 1960, there were 328,000 people on welfare in New York City, and 250,000 of these were "families," or children plus one or both parents. In 1969, more than 1,000,000 people were on welfare, of whom 729,000 were in the family category.

The conventional apologists for welfare argue that the vast increase in the number of dependent families is due to the fact that available jobs did not pay enough to support a family, and that therefore husbands were motivated to desert the family in order to qualify it for welfare. And so, this argument runs, the thing to do is to provide "income supplements" for the "working poor" in order to keep the husband in the house.

But now the paradox. New York has long provided just such income supplements. The family need not be husbandless to qualify. The same is true of other "advanced" welfare jurisdictions. And yet it is exactly here that the increase in the number of deserted families has been most spectacular. In a searching article in the current issue of Commentary magazine, Harvard sociologist Nathan Glazer concludes that it is precisely the "liberal" and "humane" character of the New York welfare legislation that has caused the vast increase in abandoned families. Families are abandoned because it is easier than ever to do so. The economic, social and emotional sanctions that formerly kept more husbands in the home have been eroded by the "humane" measures designed to keep families together.

But it is not only welfare that is in question. The evidence is accumulating that increasing public expenditure in the social area advances steadily toward a limit of 100 per cent — precisely because the "solutions" generate new problems.

"If we look at a country like Sweden," writes Glazer, "which spends relatively little for arms — and which, owing to its small size, its low rate of population growth, and its ethnic homogeneity, presents a much more moderate range of social problems than the United States — we will see how even the most enlightened, most scientific, least conflict-ridden

Bees recognize honey-yielding flowers first by color, then by scent — nature item. And not by taste?

Historians say Lake Erie was the last of the five Great Lakes to be discovered by the white man. And, from what we read in the papers, it seems the first to be thoroughly polluted by him!

effort to deal with social problems leads to a tax budget which takes more than 40 per cent of the Gross National Product.

"And new items are already emerging on Sweden's agenda of social demands that should raise that percentage even higher. For example, at present only a small proportion of Swedes go on to higher education. Housing is still in short supply and does not satisfy a good part of the population." And additional demands are being formulated "that would require further increases in taxation — if, that is, any society can go much beyond a taxation rate of 40 per cent of its Gross National Product."

Reflect upon these figures, and upon Glazer's conclusions, and where social policy is concerned you will pass out of the liberal Garden of Eden.

Willard

By BOB THOMAS

AP Television-Movie Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Who would have guessed that the big hit of the summer movie season would turn out to be a film about a boy and his collection of rats?

Possibly nobody except the two men responsible for bringing "Willard" to the screen: Charles Pratt, president of Bing Crosby Productions, and Mort Briskin, who produced the picture.

"We thought from the beginning that it was going to do well," says Briskin.

"What we made was a damned good, entertaining, exciting picture—without a message," adds Pratt.

The results confirm their faith. "Willard," which was filmed for $1 million, has already drawn $15 million through the nation's box offices.

Aside from giving a boost to an otherwise dismal summer for the movies business, "Willard" offered a good example of how daring showmanship can succeed.

Bing Crosby Productions—the singer is no longer with it, having sold out to Cox Broadcasting three years ago—hereafter specialized in television series like "Ben Casey" and "Hogan's Heroes." Pratt and Briskin decided the company should venture into the perilous field of features.

They came across a slim novel "Ratman's Notebook" by Stephen Gilbert, which had been passed up by all the major studios.

"I read it in an hour and a half one morning, and gave it to Chuck," Briskin recalled.

"He read it before lunch and our reaction was the same: we both loved it. We immediately began negotiations to buy it."

"We did so in the face of basic industry no-no. Traditionally, rats were never shown on the screen, for fear that women in the audience would be frightened."

The producers assigned trainer Moe DiSessa to produce a breed of rat actors.

"Our rats had to be trained from birth," explained Pratt. "By being played with as babies, they had no fear of humans and would respond to a few commands."

The human actors took well to the rats. Bruce Davidson, who played Willard, walked around the set with two on his shoulder. Ernest Borgnine uncompromisingly allowed 200 to crawl over his body.

Briskin and Pratt figure one good rat picture deserves another, and they'll start shooting a sequel, "Ben," in November.

Legislature Report

By MYRL H. SHOEMAKER
State Representative

The legislative week in Ohio began early last week. The House, Monday afternoon, in a skeleton session signed a bill (H.B. 108) that would require state, political subdivisions and school districts to withhold municipal income taxes. The Ohio Senate later signed the bill.

A bill passed the House here Wednesday that would extend to all members of the Public Employees Retirement System the same privileges now granted municipal and university employees.

This would permit employees of the PERS to count coverage under a former retirement plan prior to coverage under PERS to satisfy service credit requirements for retirement under PERS — if the former retirement plan was "operated, recognized or endorsed" by the employer.

The House also passed a bill Wednesday that expands the power of the State Highway Patrol to enforce criminal laws, when ordered by the Governor at the request of a sheriff or mayor.

Included are areas which are threatened by riot, civil disorder, or insurrection — and in which local law enforcement agencies would not be reasonably capable of maintaining order.

The House, Thursday, passed

a measure that would permit county children's services boards to make payments to adoptive parents of children with special needs. In another bill that passed, the House gave its approval to a bill that would permit a member of the armed services and his spouse to make a permanent change of residence and vote a military absentee ballot from their new residence. The purpose of the bill is to allow a career serviceman to change his residence within Ohio and to vote an absentee ballot from his new residence rather than being required to vote absentee from the place of residence where he first entered service.

Wednesday of this week, the administration of Governor Gilligan said he may be willing to accept a personal income tax as low as 5 per cent to 3 per cent, considerably lower than a range of 1.5 per cent to 3 per cent that has been weighed in a Senate Ways and Means Subcommittee.

In its original proposal to the legislature last March, the administration called for a personal income tax of one per cent to eight per cent.

The latest administration proposal also calls for a one-cent increase in cigarette tax, rather than an increase in the sales tax that is being pushed by some GOP leaders.

One administration official said the goal was to come up with a package that could get the necessary 17 votes for passage in the 33-member Ohio Senate.

Anthropologists are now wondering whether a skull recently found in the central Philippines could be that of the famed circumnavigator Ferdinand Magellan who was done in by natives in 1521. Just another bone of contention to argue about?

Chris Columbus made his historic voyage in 1492 to prove the world was round. He didn't. But Magellan did — or rather one of his ships — the Vittoria — did.

It took the Vittoria three years to girdle the globe. That's a mighty long voyage — but definitely not a luxury cruise.

Employable Degrees

As if educational institutions, particularly colleges and universities, did not have enough crises to overcome, they have been handed another one by the rapidly changing national vocational requirements.

It is a matter of fitting graduates to a changing demand in the labor force.

Aerospace engineers and teachers are not in great demand this year, but the colleges are still turning them out faster than the economy can absorb them. The ranks of teachers in particular could become seriously overcrowded for the first time in decades, as the population levels off after the World War II baby boom.

The number of children entering elementary grades already is showing a decline in some large communities.

But there are other professions where the number of graduates is far in excess of the number of job vacancies. A study by the U.S. Labor Department indicates almost 17,000 persons will be receiving bachelor degrees in economics each year of this decade, but will be competing for only 2,200 new jobs each year in their field.

Similarly, 41,000 history majors will graduate each year of the '70s — to face only 800 new openings each year for historians. Vocational and academic counseling suddenly take on added meaning, to help channel interests and aptitudes into employable degrees.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Now that new housing is rising at a record rate of more than two million units a year, the furniture industry is gearing up for a boom such as few other industries can look forward to.

Maybe the boom will never be heard; similar forecasts have been made for other industries only to be thwarted by reluctant consumers and unforeseen twists in the market. But the prospects are unusually good.

Everything considered, a number of different factors are falling into place.

The population mix, savings rate, incomes, and personal styles are important elements in the outlook. Internal changes, such as mergers and new distribution methods, are exploiting these elements.

The most important factor, as usual, is the number of housing units going up. Traditionally, furniture sales have shown a curve similar to housing after a lag of one to 1½ years.

Now there are indications that furniture sales may rise even more than housing starts.

Among the reasons: —Should the economy be re-stabilized and inflation wrung out, the buying power of many Americans may rise even faster than incomes.

—The savings rate is at an unusually high level, better than 8 per cent of take-home pay. While consumers remain reluctant to lower that rate—spend the money, that is—experience suggests they cannot hold out much longer.

Compared with recent years, the ratio of installment debt to income is relatively low. Just as there are savings in the bank, there is credit at the bank too.

Moreover, a study by the Chase Manhattan Bank notes: —The number of households in the 25-34 age group, the highest spenders on home furnishings, will increase by 52 per cent in the decade of the 1970s.

—The percentage of families with incomes of more than $15,000 will almost double from 22 per cent in 1970 to 38 per cent in 1980. And those are comparable—not inflated—dollars.

—The number of families in the 25-34 age group with incomes of more than $15,000 is projected to surge from 1.6 million to 6 million in 1980.

Presented with such demographic and income factors, the industry is gradually modernizing. Attempts are being made to speed deliveries which, as most purchasers know, can be maddeningly slow and inefficient.

Delays of three months or so are still common, partly because of the small size of many manufacturers. The Chase study found 6,700 companies making carpets, beds and furniture, and three-fifths of them employed fewer than 20 workers.

New marketing methods already are evident in newspaper ads. Entire rooms are being sold instead of individual items. Because of their greater size, single manufacturers soon will be able to market pictures, rugs and lamps as well as the bed, dresser and nighttable.

Claudette was reading her part from a script at a late rehearsal and Sir Noel opined, "I should think you'd have it letter perfect by now." Claudette snapped, "For heaven's sake, I know it backwards." "And that, darling," retorted Sir Noel happily, "is the way you're reading it!"

Tom Rees, youthful congressman from Beverly Hills in Washington, told Columnist Nick Von Hoffman he's convinced there's a lot of reforming to be done in the House of Representatives — particularly regarding the stultifying seniority rules. "If ever there was a lost generation," grumbled young Mr. Rees, "we are it. The kids don't trust anyone over 30 and the old bull elephants of the House don't trust anyone under 60. Those of us in between are the limbo generation. The seniority system is so 100 per cent inflexible, it covers everything on Capitol Hill except the use of public restrooms. Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Is there much difference in the amount of caffeine in coffee than tea?

Mrs. J.D., N. C. Dear Mrs. D.: It is estimated that about one and one-half grains of caffeine are found in a strong cup of coffee. Almost the exact amount is found in a cup of strong tea.

Caffeine in coffee is almost identically the same, from the chemical point of view, as is the "theine" that is found in tea.

Only recently, a letter from Mr. Jeffrey Gudson, a pharmacist in New London, Conn., pointed out the similarity of the amount of caffeine in coffee and in tea. He also pointed out that caffeine exists in about a quarter of these amounts in some form of soda and even in a cup of cocoa.

This is valuable information for those who unwittingly are consuming caffeine.

I have had numerous electrocardiograms and chest X-rays. All these are negative yet when I walk up the slightest incline my heart beats fast and I gasp for breath.

I am an extremely nervous person, 38 years old, and I am dreadfully worried about this.

Mrs. D V., Ill. Dear Mrs. V.: To outline all the other causes for shortness of breath and heart palpitations would only further increase your anxiety about conditions that probably do not exist.

It is not unusual for people who are not in excellent physical condition, especially those who do little or no exercise, to have these symptoms.

The fact that your general condition is excellent must give you mention that you are not in any imminent danger of becoming an invalid. You did mention that you are 38 years old and that this is a constant fear. Perhaps you should again discuss your emotional tensions with your doctor and find out if these may in themselves be responsible for making the symptoms worse.

There are many new studies by which the ventilation of the lungs can now be studied. The breathing capacity can be tested along with chemical studies to track down the cause of your symptoms. It is not unusual for highly tense people to overbreathe. This is known as hyperventilation, and can cause the symptoms you describe.

I am 20 years old and have bow legs. Is it too late to correct them even if they are not very noticeable?

Miss K.T., Nev. Dear Miss K.: You would be doing yourself a great injustice if you were to get involved in this procedure without following the specific advice of your doctor or an orthopedic specialist.

End Of An Era

By JEFFERY HART

The report that "welfare reform" — translation: vastly increased Federal welfare funding — is dead in Congress almost certainly represents much more than a crystallization of public opinion against one particular proposal.

True enough, public opinion was nudged here by the remarkable events this summer in New York, where some 20 per cent of welfare recipients have continued to fail to pick up their checks, thus totally discrediting the claim of the welfare establishment that only 1 or 2 per cent of the recipients are ineligible or fraudulent. Still, particular abuses can be corrected or minimized. The doubts go much deeper, and are conceptual in character. At the very least we have passed beyond the Age of Innocence where social legislation is concerned, for the evidence is accumulating that program after program, undertaken with the best of intentions, not only fails to solve the problem for which it was designed, but, worse, goes on to create new problems which previously did not exist.

Consider the experience in New York. In 1960, there were 328,000 people on welfare in New York City, and 250,000 of these were "families," or children plus one or both parents. In 1969, more than 1,000,000 people were on welfare, of whom 729,000 were in the family category.

The conventional apologists for welfare argue that the vast increase in the number of dependent families is due to the fact that available jobs did not pay enough to support a family, and that therefore husbands were motivated to desert the family in order to qualify it for welfare. And so, this argument runs, the thing to do is to provide "income supplements" for the "working poor" in order to keep the husband in the house.

But now the paradox. New York has long provided just such income supplements. The family need not be husbandless to qualify. The same is true of other "advanced" welfare jurisdictions. And yet it is exactly here that the increase in the number of deserted families has been most spectacular. In a searching article in the current issue of Commentary magazine, Harvard sociologist Nathan Glazer concludes that it is precisely the "liberal" and "humane" character of the New York welfare legislation that has caused the vast increase in abandoned families. Families are abandoned because it is easier than ever to do so. The economic, social and emotional sanctions that formerly kept more husbands in the home have been eroded by the "humane" measures designed to keep families together.

But it is not only welfare that is in question. The evidence is accumulating that increasing public expenditure in the social area advances steadily toward a limit of 100 per cent — precisely because the "solutions" generate new problems.

"If we look at a country like Sweden," writes Glazer, "which spends relatively little for arms — and which, owing to its small size, its low rate of population growth, and its ethnic homogeneity, presents a much more moderate range of social problems than the United States — we will see how even the most enlightened, most scientific, least conflict-ridden effort to deal with social problems leads to a tax budget which takes more than 40 per cent of the Gross National Product.

Bees recognize honey-yielding flowers first by color, then by scent — nature item. And not by taste?

"And new items are already emerging on Sweden's agenda of social demands that should raise that percentage even higher. For example, at present only a small proportion of Swedes go on to higher education. Housing is still in short supply and does not satisfy a good part of the population." And additional demands are being formulated "that would require further increases in taxation — if, that is, any society can go much beyond a taxation rate of 40 per cent of its Gross National Product."

Reflect upon these figures, and upon Glazer's conclusions, and where social policy is concerned you will pass out of the liberal Garden of Eden.

Willard

By BOB THOMAS

AP Television-Movie Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Who would have guessed that the big hit of the summer movie season would turn out to be a film about a boy and his collection of rats?

Possibly nobody except the two men responsible for bringing "Willard" to the screen: Charles Pratt, president of Bing Crosby Productions, and Mort Briskin, who produced the picture.

"We thought from the beginning that it was going to do well," says Briskin. "What we made was a damned good, entertaining, exciting picture—without a message," adds Pratt.

The results confirm their faith. "Willard," which was filmed for $1 million, has already drawn $15 million through the nation's box offices.

Aside from giving a boost to an otherwise dismal summer for the movies business, "Willard" offered a good example of how daring showmanship can succeed.

Bing Crosby Productions—the singer is no longer with it, having sold out to Cox Broadcasting three years ago—herebefore specialized in television series like "Ben Casey" and "Hogan's Heroes." Pratt and Briskin decided the company should venture into the perilous field of features.

They came across a slim novel "Ratman's Notebooks" by Stephen Gilbert, which had been passed up by all the major studios.

"I read it in an hour and a half one morning, and gave it to Chuck," Briskin recalled. "He read it before lunch and our reaction was the same: we both loved it. We immediately began negotiations to buy it."

"We did so in the face of basic industry no-no. Traditionally, rats were never shown on the screen, for fear that women in the audience would be frightened."

The producers assigned trainer Moe DiSessa to produce a brood of rat actors.

"Our rats had to be trained from birth," explained Pratt. "By being played with as babies, they had no fear of humans and would respond to a few commands."

The human actors took well to the rats. Bruce Davidson, who played Willard, walked around the set with two on his shoulder. Ernest Borgnine uncomplainingly allowed 200 to crawl over his body.

Briskin and Pratt figure one good rat picture deserves another, and they'll start shooting a sequel, "Ben," in November.

Legislature Report

By MYRL H. SHOEMAKER
State Representative

The legislative week in Ohio began early last week. The House, Monday afternoon, in a skeleton session signed a bill (H.B. 108) that would require state, political subdivisions and school districts to withhold municipal income taxes. The Ohio Senate later signed the bill.

A bill passed the House here Wednesday that would extend to all members of the Public Employees Retirement System the same privileges now granted municipal and university employees.

This would permit employees of the PERS to count coverage under a former retirement plan prior to coverage under PERS to satisfy service credit requirements for retirement under PERS — if the former retirement plan was "operated, recognized or endorsed" by the employer.

The House also passed a bill Wednesday that expands the power of the State Highway Patrol to enforce criminal laws, when ordered by the Governor at the request of a sheriff or mayor.

Included are areas which are threatened by riot, civil disorder, or insurrection — and in which local law enforcement agencies would not be reasonably capable of maintaining order.

The House, Thursday, passed

a measure that would permit county children's services boards to make payments to adoptive parents of children with special needs. In another bill that passed, the House gave its approval to a bill that would permit a member of the armed services and his spouse to make a permanent change of residence and vote a military absentee ballot from their new residence. The purpose of the bill is to allow a career serviceman to change his residence within Ohio and to vote an absentee ballot from his new residence rather than being required to vote absentee from the place of residence where he first entered service.

Wednesday of this week, the administration of Governor Gilligan said he may be willing to accept a personal income tax as low as 5 per cent to 3 per cent, considerably lower than a range of 1.5 per cent to 3 per cent that has been weighed in a Senate Ways and Means Subcommittee.

In its original proposal to the legislature last March, the administration called for a personal income tax of one per cent to eight per cent.

The latest administration proposal also calls for a one-cent increase in cigarette tax, rather than an increase in the sales tax that is being pushed by some GOP leaders.

One administration official said the goal was to come up with a package that could get the necessary 17 votes for passage in the 33-member Ohio Senate.

Prisons Note Rise Of Cell Block Militants

Editor's note: The following article, second of a series, examines the rise of the cell block militant, a politically motivated rebel who no longer can be silenced by a few days in solitary.

By MARK BROWN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Politically aware and increasingly militant, a new breed of prisoner is challenging the right of prison authorities to subject him to privation and brutality.

Although in a growing number of cases defiant prison inmates are finding an ally in the courts, more are turning to violence to gain redress of grievances, real and imagined.

A prison revolt at Attica, N.Y., and what officials call an escape attempt in San Quentin, Calif., have left 48 persons dead in the past month. In California prisons, officials report, the seven guards murdered so far this year outnumber the total for the entire period 1953-70.

"There is a new breed of prisoner," says a leading Senate expert on prisons, Republican Roman L. Hruska of Nebraska. "He is younger, more intelligent and more aggressive."

At the root of prison unrest is a correction system that, in the judgment of federal authorities, is failing to rehabilitate criminals or protect the public.

Subhuman squalor in cells built 50 or more years ago, sadistic brutality at the hands of keepers or fellow convicts, inadequate rehabilitation facilities or none at all: these are the lot of prisoners across the country in a system that one federal law enforcement official has called "a national disgrace."

Building on and adding to grievances among all convicts is a new factor: a growing conviction, particularly among blacks who make up a far greater proportion of inmate populations than they do of the total population, that imprisonment is political repression rather than punishment for a crime.

"There are still some blacks here who consider themselves criminals—but not many," wrote the late Gorge Jackson in his book "Soledad Brother." Jackson, shot to death in the San Quentin incident, had spent 10 of his 28 years in prison for a $70 robbery.

Paradoxically, the rising militance comes at a time when national leaders, including President Nixon and Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, have signaled an unprecedented call for prison reform.

It also is a time when the courts are abandoning their traditional hands-off policy to declare substandard prison conditions unconstitutional, and to expand legal rights of prisoners.

To Ellis McDougal, Georgia's director of corrections and a past president of the American Correctional Association, prison revolts reflect conditions on the outside.

"No one should be surprised," McDougal said. "What's true in society is true in its institutions. Any problems that develop in the streets wind up six months later in the prisons."

Prison officials point to the changing characteristics of the nation's prison population.

With expansion of probation and parole, America's prison population has declined from a peak of 213,000 in 1960 to slightly less than 200,000.

The offenders still behind bars are likely to be those who have committed the most serious crimes: murder, rape, robbery and assault.

Throughout the American criminal justice system, blacks are disproportionately represented in relation to their percentage of the total population.

FBI crime statistics for 1970 indicate blacks comprise 53.3 per cent of all persons arrested for the violent crimes of murder, rape, robbery and assault, and for 32.8 per cent of arrests for the property crimes of burglary, larceny and auto theft. Yet blacks comprise only 12 per cent of the total U.S. population.

The imbalance is even more evident in the prisons. In New York state prisons, for example, blacks comprise 70 per cent of the inmate population.

In a philosophical sense, at least, some prison administrators sympathize with black inmates' claims that they are "political prisoners."

"I can see a hell of a lot of truth to it," said Leighton W. Dudley, Maryland's deputy secretary for correctional services. Noting that many of the state's inmates grew up in Baltimore's black ghetto, he describes them as "victims of a rotten social system."

Whether or not prisoners are developing, as radical California lawyer Fay Stender contends, "a consciousness of themselves as a convicted class," the effects of a new militance are being felt in prisons around the country.

"It used to be that if an offender was recalcitrant, he was placed in disciplinary segregation and didn't get out until he played the game," Dudley said.

On the inside, according to Heywood Burns, executive director of the National Conference of Black Lawyers, such groups as the Black Muslims and the Black Panthers are helping to create an "increased awareness on the part of the black prisoners of the nature and extent of their victimization."

Outside prison walls there are such organizations as Mrs. Stender's Prison Law Project in California, the Fortune

Bookstore Transplanted To Indiana

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Robert J. Bedford, an Indianapolis shoe salesman in Nashville to see the Grand Ole Opry, went shopping for a can of shaving cream and bought a bookstore.

Bedford said he and a friend, Roy Berry, and their wives walked downtown Tuesday to buy some shaving cream when they discovered Hooberry's Bookstore.

All the store's stock was put up for sale after the owner, 88-year-old Champe Hooberry, broke a hip and was admitted to a hospital.

"We were rummaging through it and checking a few prices and were just fascinated with the place and its nostalgia," Bedford said. "So I called my buddy aside and said, 'Why don't we buy this thing and ship it to Indianapolis?'"

After a hasty conference with Hooberry's son Clayton, a price—undisclosed—was agreed upon.

Bedford said the entire stock—including about 15,000 books—will be shipped to Carmel, Ind., an Indianapolis suburb, where the store will be reopened under the same name, to which he and Berry purchased the rights.

Bedford said he saw the Grand Ole Opry and bought a bookstore, but still needs a can of shaving cream.

Prisons Note Rise Of Cell Block Militants

Editor's note: The following article, second of a series, examines the rise of the cell block militant, a politically motivated rebel who no longer can be silenced by a few days in solitary.

By MARK BROWN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Politically aware and increasingly militant, a new breed of prisoner is challenging the right of prison authorities to subject him to privation and brutality.

Although in a growing number of cases defiant prison inmates are finding an ally in the courts, more are turning to violence to gain redress of grievances, real and imagined.

A prison revolt at Attica, N.Y., and what officials call an escape attempt in San Quentin, Calif., have left 48 persons dead in the past month. In California prisons, officials report, the seven guards murdered so far this year outnumber the total for the entire period 1953-70.

"There is a new breed of prisoner," says a leading Senate expert on prisons, Republican Roman L. Hruska of Nebraska. "He is younger, more intelligent and more aggressive."

At the root of prison unrest is a correction system that, in the judgment of federal authorities, is failing to rehabilitate criminals or protect the public.

Subhuman squalor in cells built 50 or more years ago, sadistic brutality at the hands of keepers or fellow convicts, inadequate rehabilitation facilities or none at all: these are the lot of prisoners across the country in a system that one federal law enforcement official has called "a national disgrace."

President Nixon himself has condemned as "a convincing case of failure."

Building on and adding to grievances among all convicts is a new factor: a growing conviction, particularly among blacks who make up a far greater proportion of inmate populations than they do of the total population, that imprisonment is political repression rather than punishment for a crime.

"There are still some blacks here who consider themselves criminals—but not many," wrote the late Gorge Jackson in his book "Soledad Brother."

Jackson, shot to death in the San Quentin incident, had spent 10 of his 28 years in prison for a $70 robbery.

Paradoxically, the rising militance comes at a time when national leaders, including President Nixon and Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, have signaled an unprecedented call for prison reform.

It also is a time when the courts are abandoning their traditional hands-off policy to declare substandard prison conditions unconstitutional, and to expand legal rights of prisoners.

To Ellis McDougal, Georgia's director of corrections and a past president of the American Correctional Association, prison revolts reflect conditions on the outside.

"No one should be surprised," McDougal said. "What's true in society is true in its institutions. Any problems that develop in the streets wind up six months later in the prisons."

Prison officials point to the changing characteristics of the nation's prison population.

With expansion of probation and parole, America's prison population has declined from a peak of 213,000 in 1960 to slightly less than 200,000.

The offenders still behind bars are likely to be those who have committed the most serious crimes: murder, rape, robbery and assault.

Throughout the American criminal justice system, blacks are disproportionately represented in relation to their percentage of the total population.

FBI crime statistics for 1970 indicate blacks comprise 53.3 per cent of all persons arrested for the violent crimes of murder, rape, robbery and assault, and for 32.8 per cent of arrests for the property crimes of burglary, larceny and auto theft. Yet blacks comprise only 12 per cent of the total U.S. population.

The imbalance is even more evident in the prisons. In New York state prisons, for example, blacks comprise 70 per cent of the inmate population. In a philosophical sense, at least, some prison administrators sympathize with black inmates' claims that they are "political prisoners."

"I can see a hell of a lot of truth to it," said Leighton W. Dudley, Maryland's deputy secretary for correctional services. Noting that many of the state's inmates grew up in Baltimore's black ghetto, he describes them as "victims of a rotten social system."

Whether or not prisoners are developing as radical California lawyer Fay Stender contends, "a consciousness of themselves as a convicted class," the effects of a new militance are being felt in prisons around the country.

"It used to be that if an offender was recalcitrant, he was placed in disciplinary segregation and didn't get out until he played the game," Dudley said. On the inside, according to Heywood Burns, executive director of the National Conference of Black Lawyers, such groups as the Black Muslims and the Black Panthers are helping to create an "increased awareness on the part of the black prisoners of the nature and extent of their victimization."

Outside prison walls there are such organizations as Mrs. Stender's Prison Law Project in California, the Fortune

Society in New York, the External Committee of the Afro-American Society of the Adult Correctional Institution in Rhode Island, and a score of others around the country.

Both the Fortune Society and the Rhode Island group are composed of ex-convicts who perform such tasks as maintaining family contact with prison inmates and smoothing their transition into society at the end of their terms.

The sketches, which were beautifully executed, depicted landscape scenes of the Ross County area throughout the four seasons of the year. A few were illustrations of the play of sunlight as the hours of the day progressed.

His work is pure realism with an intended effort to introduce design into the finished composition. His application and handling of the paint compares well with the old French Impressionists: Manet, Pissarro, Cezanne and Monet. He greatly admires the works of the contemporary artists, Meyeth and Hopper and his paintings show a remarkable similarity.

College Students Have Lobbyist

By CHARLES McFADDEN
Associated Press Writer
SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — In an age when college students and politics are viewed with disfavor by many, Dick Twohy operates under a double handicap: he's a lobbyist representing college students.

Twohy, 26, mustachioed and single, represents 106,000 fulltime University of California students before the California Legislature.

"With respect to students, this is an effort to get some off the streets and into the system," he says. "The decisions are made in dull gray committee rooms. If you're concerned not only with venting anger but changing things for the better, then we have to roll up our sleeves."

But he admits there is "a certain amount of skepticism" among students about his efforts to put their interests before California's 120 legislators.

The student body operates out of a two-room suite in an old office building near the Capitol. Twohy's $10,000-a-year salary is paid out of student body funds on the nine campuses. He hopes to operate on a budget of $84,000 during the 1971-72 fiscal year, depending on how much money the students put up. His contract is with the UC Council of Student Body Presidents.

Twohy doesn't have the reservoirs of dollars some lobbyists can promise for legislative campaigns. He says he operates on a combination of persuasion and attempts to muster public opinion.

"We've had varying responses," Twohy says, "but in general, this effort is pretty well received."

"So far I haven't been thrown out of anyone's office."

Legislators contacted said Twohy maintains a generally low profile.

"He may very well be effective," said one, "but I've only had one contact with him this year."

Twohy contacts legislators in their offices, in the corridors of the Capitol and in committee hearings, as do other lobbyists. But unlike some other lobbyists, he doesn't buy drinks and dinners for the lawmakers.

"I never have. We'd be glad to do it but the legislators would have to pick up the tab."

He says that part of his job that gives him the most satisfaction is "seeing an item that is of particular concern to students win passage over determined opposition."

Twohy never attended the University of California. He was picked earlier this year by the student body presidents from a field of 28 candidates. He grew up in San Jose and attended Seattle University and the New York University School of Law.

The lobby has chalked up one major victory in defeat of a measure which would have made it easier to revoke a student's financial aid if he was involved in campus disturbances, Twohy said.

He argued that the measure was inherently discriminatory against the poor, because a rich student would not be affected. The lobby is also pushing a bill to increase the amount of money available for students under the Educational Opportunity Program.

Although much of his time so far has been involved in bread-and-butter issues for students, Twohy feels he really speaks for the entire younger generation — or at least the socially aware part of it.

"A large number of young people see that our social institutions and way of providing a decent life for all of our citizens have got to undergo change — and this extends beyond the parochial concerns of the campus," he says.

Escapes' Trail Vanishes Again

MONTICELLO, Ohio (AP) — The chase for three escaped inmates of Lima State Hospital resumed early today but again ended in futility near this Van Wert County community.

The trio was spotted by a resident hiding in a garage, and police were called. Officers said wet weather caused search dogs to lose the scent of the men.

The inmates escaped Tuesday from the psychopathic ward of the hospital. They were identified as Charles Stapleton, 33, and Medea Romulus, 44, of Cuyahoga County, and William Moralevitz, 32, of Lucas County.

Closed Circuit TV Grid Games Urged

CINCINNATI (AP) — Since all the Cincinnati Bengals games this year have been sold out, City Councilman William Chenault has proposed that they be shown via closed circuit television in downtown theaters.

Council Wednesday directed the city administration to explore the possibility with officials of the National Football League team.

Chenault suggested that admission charges of $2 for adults and $1 for children be set. This would give everyone—the rich and poor, the shut-ins, the young and old — a chance to see the games, Chenault said.

Gilligan . . .

Gilligan refused to sign any more interim appropriations. He called the makeshift funding an "exercise in bad government."

"If the Republican leaders want to adopt another interim budget, they will have to do it themselves. I will not pretend any more that this is the way to govern Ohio. I will no longer be a party to it," he said.

A ten-day waiting period is required between passage of legislation and the time it goes into effect without gubernatorial approval.

Gilligan warned that if legislative leaders intended to enter October without a permanent tax and budget plan they will have to pass an interim measure this week.

Legislators appear eager to avoid that.

Medina . . .

Asked if he felt any bitterness toward the Army, he replied, "None whatsoever."

During the trial, Medina testified in his own behalf and maintained that he was not aware of atrocities at the time of the massacre.

"Reflecting back now, I know I lost control because there were noncombatants killed by my company," he testified. "If I had been aware of it that day, I would have stopped it."

The jury also said it was convinced Medina was not aware of civilian deaths.

Col. Robert E. Nelson, one of the jurors, said the verdict does not signify that the jury believes no war crimes were committed at My Lai.

"I am certain war crimes were committed," he said. "In the case of Capt. Medina, the jury was convinced he did not commit war crimes."

Experts Doubt China Moves Will Affect Nixon's Trip

By JOHN RODERICK
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — American officials are as perplexed as anyone about the mysterious events in Red China but they tend to believe that not even the death of Mao Tse-tung would bring about the cancellation of Richard Nixon's trip to Peking.

Chinese Communist Premier Chou En-lai has invited Nixon to visit the Chinese capital sometime before next May. It is believed here that the invitation was the result of a carefully thought out, and undoubtedly thoroughly debated, decision by the Communist Party central committee.

It appears unlikely the new and important line of seeking a rapprochement with the United States would be altered by the passing or indisposition of any individual leader, no matter how highly placed.

If, on the other hand, the unusual developments of the past few days are due to a power struggle within the party, the question of Nixon's visit could very well be an element well-placed sources are quick to add.

The Chinese have announced that the traditional parade of a half million people through Tien An Men (Gate of Heavenly Peace) Square for annual Oct. 1 national day celebrations has been called off. This, coupled with reports that all military furloughs have been cancelled and soldiers called back from home leave, has intrigued and puzzled American experts whose job it is to watch the China scene.

The fact that all civilian and military air flights also are said to have been cancelled during a three-day period last week adds another incomprehensible note to the situation.

Chinese explanations that it was decided to downgrade the anniversary celebrations and make them less formal than heretofore might hold water under normal circumstances. For several years after formation of the peoples republic in 1949 May Day celebrations were marked by similar parades which later were discontinued. What lends mystery to the Anniversary Day decision is in abruptness. Visible preparations were vigorously underway up to the middle of last week, then were halted without explanation.

Intelligence sources here have found no evidence of any sizeable Chinese troop movements, a fact which suggests that the crisis—if there is one—is internal.

College Students Have Lobbyist

By CHARLES McFADDEN
Associated Press Writer
SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — In an age when college students and politics are viewed with disfavor by many, Dick Twohy operates under a double handicap: he's a lobbyist representing college students.

Twohy, 26, mustachioed and single, represents 106,000 fulltime University of California students before the California Legislature.

"With respect to students, this is an effort to get some off the streets and into the system," he says. "The decisions are made in dull gray committee rooms. If you're concerned not only with venting anger but changing things for the better, then we have to roll up our sleeves."

But he admits there is "a certain amount of skepticism" among students about his efforts to put their interests before California's 120 legislators.

The student body operates out of a two-room suite in an old office building near the Capitol. Twohy's $10,000-a-year salary is paid out of student body funds on the nine campuses. He hopes to operate on a budget of $84,000 during the 1971-72 fiscal year, depending on how much money the students put up. His contract is with the UC Council of Student Body Presidents.

Twohy doesn't have the reservoirs of dollars some lobbyists can promise for legislative campaigns. He says he operates on a combination of persuasion and attempts to muster public opinion.

"We've had varying responses," Twohy says, "but in general, this effort is pretty well received."

"So far I haven't been thrown out of anyone's office."

Legislators contacted said Twohy maintains a generally low profile.

"He may very well be effective," said one, "but I've only had one contact with him this year."

Twohy contacts legislators in their offices, in the corridors of the Capitol and in committee hearings, as do other lobbyists. But unlike some other lobbyists, he doesn't buy drinks and dinners for the lawmakers.

"I never have. We'd be glad to do it but the legislator would have to pick up the tab."

He says that part of his job that gives him the most satisfaction is "seeing an item that is of particular concern to students win passage over determined opposition."

Twohy never attended the University of California. He was picked earlier this year by the student body presidents from a field of 28 candidates. He grew up in San Jose and attended Seattle University and the New York University School of Law.

The lobby has chalked up one major victory in defeat of a measure which would have made it easier to revoke a student's financial aid if he was involved in campus disturbances, Twohy said.

He argued that the measure was inherently discriminatory against the poor, because a rich student would not be affected. The lobby is also pushing a bill to increase the amount of money available for students under the Educational Opportunity Program.

Although much of his time so far has been involved in bread-and-butter issues for students, Twohy feels he really speaks for the entire younger generation — or at least the socially aware part of it.

"A large number of young people see that our social institutions and way of providing a decent life for all of our citizens have got to undergo change — and this extends beyond the parochial concerns of the campus," he says.

Escapes' Trail Vanishes Again

MONTICELLO, Ohio (AP) — The chase for three escaped inmates of Lima State Hospital resumed early today but again ended in futility near this Van Wert County community.

The trio was spotted by a resident hiding in a garage, and police were called. Officers said wet weather caused search dogs to lose the scent of the men.

The inmates escaped Tuesday from the psychopathic ward of the hospital. They were identified as Charles Stapleton, 33, and Medea Romulus, 44, of Cuyahoga County, and William Moralevitz, 32, of Lucas County.

Closed Circuit TV Grid Games Urged

CINCINNATI (AP) — Since all the Cincinnati Bengals games this year have been sold out, City Councilman William Chenault has proposed that they be shown via closed circuit television in downtown theaters.

Council Wednesday directed the city administration to explore the possibility with officials of the National Football League team.

Chenault suggested that admission charges of $2 for adults and $1 for children be set. This would give everyone — the rich and poor, the shut-ins, the young and old — a chance to see the games, Chenault said.

Gilligan refused to sign any more interim appropriations. He called the makeshift funding an "exercise in bad government."

"If the Republican leaders want to adopt another interim budget, they will have to do it themselves. I will not pretend any more that this is the way to govern Ohio. I will no longer be a party to it," he said.

A ten-day waiting period is required between passage of legislation and the time it goes into effect without gubernatorial approval.

Gilligan warned that if legislative leaders intended to enter October without a permanent tax and budget plan they will have to pass an interim measure this week.

Legislators appear eager to avoid that.

Experts Doubt China Moves Will Affect Nixon's Trip

By JOHN RODERICK
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — American officials are as perplexed as anyone about the mysterious events in Red China but they tend to believe that not even the death of Mao Tse-tung would bring about the cancellation of Richard Nixon's trip to Peking.

Chinese Communist Premier Chou En-lai has invited Nixon to visit the Chinese capital sometime before next May. It is believed here that the invitation was the result of a carefully thought out, and undoubtedly thoroughly debated, decision by the Communist Party central committee.

It appears unlikely the new and important line of seeking a rapprochement with the United States would be altered by the passing or indisposition of any individual leader, no matter how highly placed.

If, on the other hand, the unusual developments of the past few days are due to a power struggle within the party, the question of Nixon's visit could very well be an element well-placed sources are quick to add.

The Chinese have announced that the traditional parade of a half million people through Tien An Men (Gate of Heavenly Peace) Square for annual Oct. 1 national day celebrations has been called off. This, coupled with reports that all military furloughs have been cancelled and soldiers called back from home leave, has intrigued and puzzled American experts whose job it is to watch the China scene.

GOOD OLD KEEPSAKES

THE specialist collector of nut-crackers has an exciting day when he finds one that could be identified with 18th century England or America; possibly earlier.

from hard wood. With the mouth of a grotesque head affording the means of cracking the nuts, it is an example of the fitness of design for a particular purpose that characterized many objects in domestic use in olden times.

A design was sometimes given a literally humorous turn by having the head, or other part, an international caricature of some august personage, male or female. The term "crack a few jokes" could have had its origin back when ladies retired, the dining-table was cleared for bottles of sherry or port, wooden bowls of nuts in the shells, and animated "crackers."

Special Handling Of Corn Crops Said Necessary

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An Ohio State University agriculturalist says blight-damaged Ohio corn crops are going to require special attention at harvesting time.

William Schnug, extension agricultural engineer at the university, said most Ohio corn producers escaped serious damage from the southern corn leaf blight this year. However, he said, some cornfields showed varying degrees of damage from a trace to a total loss.

Handling damaged corn, he said, will require extra attention and may present some problems.

He says high - temperature drying will kill kernel-surface fungus, but during storage the kernels may be reinfested with other spores.

Connally Says Import Tax To Be Kept For Some Time

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Treasury John B. Connally says the Nixon administration will keep the 10 percent import tax surcharge in effect until the balance of payments deficit shows signs of improvement.

Connally appeared Tuesday before a closed session of the House Ways and Means Committee amid reports President Nixon would in mid-October unveil his proposals for what the administration calls Phase Two of the new economic program.

Nixon has not revealed what policy will be when the freeze ends Nov. 13.

Connally told newsmen after the House session, however, the surcharge would have to be kept in effect "pending further developments at least until they give us substantial hope that the payments can be balanced over a period of years, a relatively short period."

Nixon met Tuesday with representatives of consumer organizations, the sixth of his sessions with major economic groups.

After the meeting, Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania said Nixon would probably go on nationwide radio and television to announce the measures that will form Phase 2.

Scott spoke of the tentative mid-October date, saying this would "give everyone 30 days to prepare themselves" for the next phase.

Representatives of consumer organizations told Nixon his post wage-price freeze stabilization program "better be fair."

to wage earners and that big business should share the economic sacrifice, a spokesman said.

The groups urged controls on interests, profits and dividends and asked for full participation in the program so consumers "once more will not be left holding the bag."

Special Handling Of Corn Crops Said Necessary

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An Ohio State University agriculturalist says blight-damaged Ohio corn crops are going to require special attention at harvesting time.

William Schnug, extension agricultural engineer at the university, said most Ohio corn producers escaped serious damage from the southern corn leaf blight this year. However, he said, some cornfields showed varying degrees of damage from a trace to a total loss.

Handling damaged corn, he said, will require extra attention and may present some problems.

He says high-temperature drying will kill kernel-surface fungus, but during storage the kernels may be reinfested with other spores.

Connally Says Import Tax To Be Kept For Some Time

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Treasury John B. Connally says the Nixon administration will keep the 10 percent import tax surcharge in effect until the balance of payments deficit shows signs of improvement.

Connally appeared Tuesday before a closed session of the House Ways and Means Committee amid reports President Nixon would in mid-October unveil his proposals for what the administration calls Phase Two of the new economic program.

Nixon has not revealed what policy will be when the freeze ends Nov. 13.

Connally told newsmen after the House session, however, the surcharge would have to be kept in effect "pending further developments at least until they give us substantial hope that the payments can be balanced over a period of years, a relatively short period."

Nixon met Tuesday with representatives of consumer organizations, the sixth of his sessions with major economic groups.

After the meeting, Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania said Nixon would probably go on nationwide radio and television to announce the measures that will form Phase 2.

Scott spoke of the tentative mid-October date, saying this would "give everyone 30 days to prepare themselves" for the next phase.

Representatives of consumer organizations told Nixon his post wage-price freeze stabilization program "better be fair" to wage earners and that big business should share the economic sacrifice, a spokesman said.

The groups urged controls on interests, profits and dividends and asked for full participation in the program so consumers "once more will not be left holding the bag."

GOOD OLD KEEPSAKES

THE specialist collector of nut-crackers has an exciting day when he finds one that could be identified with 18th century England or America; possibly earlier.

This one [] was carved from hard wood. With the mouth of a grotesque head affording the means of cracking the nuts, it is an example of the fitness of design for a particular purpose that characterized many objects in domestic use in olden times.

A design was sometimes given a literally humorous turn by having the head, or other part, an international caricature of some august personage, male or female. The term "crack a few jokes" could have had its origin back when ladies retired, the dining-table was cleared for bottles of sherry or port, wooden bowls of nuts in the shells, and animated "crackers."

New Uprising At Attica Prison Seen Possible

NEW YORK (AP) — State Commissioner of Correction Russell G. Oswald says there is some danger of a renewed uprising by inmates at Attica State Prison.

"I think without question that there are some of these hard core Maoists who would love to start the thing up again, and who will get support and what help they can from people on the outside," he said.

"In the light of what they told me repeatedly out in the yard, one has to be prepared for possible difficulties," Oswald said in an interview with Walter Cronkite on the CBS Evening News Tuesday.

He estimated that the hard core leadership consisted of 30 to 40 men, almost all of whom survived the armed assault Sept. 13 by state police that ended the four-day rebellion.

They reported a wonderful time.

Mrs. Fern Carfrey entertained to dinner Tuesday evening Mr. and Mrs. Everett Carfrey and son, and Mrs. Drumm of Columbus, O.

Modern-Day Jesse James Robs Bus

CHICAGO (AP) — It was highway robbery.

A modern-day Jesse James fled with $650 in cash and jewelry—after ordering the driver of the Greyhound bus to retrieve his luggage.

J. L. Kerrigan, president of the bus line, said it was the first time passengers had been robbed while en route.

Police gave this account: The robber boarded the bus at Fort Wayne, Ind., and, wielding a .38-caliber pistol, began robbing the 17 passengers when the bus reached Chicago's South Side. The robber then demanded to be let off the bus.

The driver, Walter Triboliet, 63, of Lima, Ohio, said the robber ordered him to remove his luggage from the baggage compartment.

Triboliet complied and the robber fled on foot, but not before firing two shots at the bus. No one was hurt during the incident, and police said the robber apparently did not voice any shooting threats.

Nab Man In Drug Case At West Jeff

LONDON, Ohio (AP) — Michael Endick, 21, of Union, N.J., is being held in the Madison County Jail in lieu of $30,000 bond on a charge of possession of marijuana.

The charge was filed after Endick, an Ohio State University student, was arrested as he came out of an abandoned building on Ohio 142 near West Jefferson.

Deputies said the building contained about two truckloads of marijuana. No value was placed on it.

Sheriff Herbert Markley and Prosecutor Ronald Parsons said the marijuana was being dried in the building, which they theorized was an old smokehouse. They said they did not know where the marijuana was grown.

After the marijuana was removed, the sheriff's office had the Jefferson Township fire department burn the building down to destroy any seed that might have remained.

Authorities said the building was owned by William Faller of Columbus, who gave permission for the building to be destroyed and also filed a trespassing charge against Endick.

Rise In Population Worries Brings Boom In Vasectomies

By C. G. McDaniel
AP Science Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — Make love, not babies.

This seems to be the attitude of the modern American male. The number of men undergoing vasectomy—the male sterilization operation—has shown a "sensational increase" recently, says John R. Rague, executive director of the Association for Voluntary Sterilization in New York City. He estimated 750,000 American males had vasectomies in 1970. That's up from an estimated 200,000 the year before.

And Rague predicted in an interview that the 1971 figure will be even greater than 1970's.

So far, an estimated three million men in the United States have had sterilization surgery—a simple procedure, done often in the doctor's office in a few minutes. The American male is not alone.

In India, where reduction in the birth rate is a major concern, an estimated 8.2 million men have been sterilized. In Great Britain some 20,000 men underwent vasectomies last year and it is estimated the figure will be double for 1971.

Rague said his association offered $30,000 in October 1969 to any New York hospital which would open a vasectomy clinic. There were no takers. The money went to the Margaret Sanger Research Bureau, which did open such a clinic.

Since then, Rague said, 154 vasectomy clinics have opened in 36 states. Among them are 82 hospitals which do vasctomies in their outpatient departments.

Rague, as well as medical authorities, attributes the recent upsurge in requests for male vasectomies to fears about possible adverse side-effects from the contraceptive pills taken by women.

There is also, he said, "a finer understanding of human sexuality, especially among the young," so that males are willing to take responsibility for preventing pregnancy.

And "the Puritanism which has been a strong influence in the development of the United States" has been declining in the past decade, especially among those under age 30, Rague said.

Rise In Population Worries Brings Boom In Vasectomies

By C. G. McDANIEL
AP Science Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Make love, not babies.

This seems to be the attitude of the modern American male. The number of men undergoing vasectomy—the male sterilization operation—has shown a "sensational increase" recently, says John R. Rague, executive director of the Association for Voluntary Sterilization in New York City. He estimated 750,000 American males had vasectomies in 1970. That's up from an estimated 200,000 the year before.

And Rague predicted in an interview that the 1971 figure will be even greater than 1970's.

So far, an estimated three million men in the United States have had sterilization surgery—a simple procedure, done often in the doctor's office in a few minutes. The American male is not alone.

In India, where reduction in the birth rate is a major concern, an estimated 8.2 million men have been sterilized. In Great Britain some 20,000 men underwent vasectomies last year and it is estimated the figure will be double for 1971.

Rague said his association offered $30,000 in October 1969 to any New York hospital which would open a vasectomy clinic. There were no takers. The money went to the Margaret Sanger Research Bureau, which did open such a clinic.

Since then, Rague said, 154 vasectomy clinics have opened in 36 states. Among them are 82 hospitals which do vasctomies in their outpatient departments.

Rague, as well as medical authorities, attributes the recent upsurge in requests for male vasectomies to fears about possible adverse side-effects from the contraceptive pills taken by women.

There is also, he said, "a finer understanding of human sexuality, especially among the young," so that males are willing to take responsibility for preventing pregnancy.

And "the Puritanism which has been a strong influence in the development of the United States" has been declining in the past decade, especially among those under age 30, Rague said.

No. 107 Harper's Weekly noted, the summer of 1871, "A gentleman who has recently visited Monticello, famous as the residence of Thomas Jefferson, says the mansion is tumbling into decay. The estate comprises about 350 acres, and is now in litigation, having been confiscated by the Confederate government, and bought in by a citizen of Charlottesville. The stone over Mr. Jefferson's grave is a ruin, like the house, relic hunters having chipped into it until the very shape of the original obelisk is destroyed."

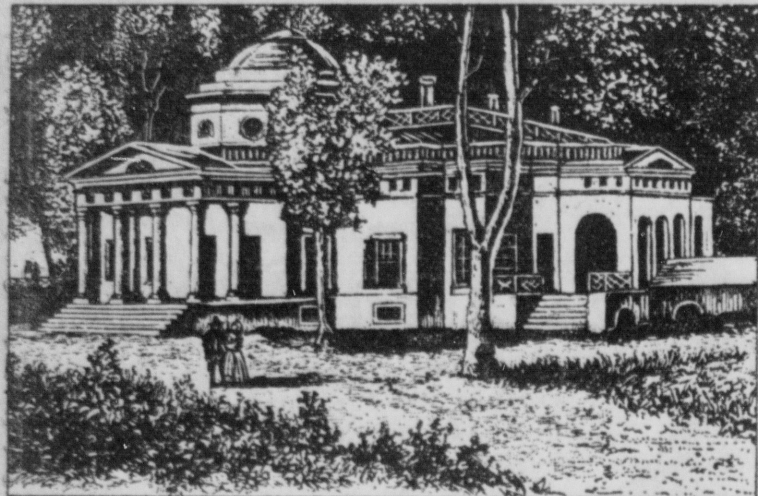

The mansion had existed in part scarcely a century. Jefferson had penned triumphantly, "Moved to Monticello," when twenty-seven, and preparing to marry a rich young widow, Martha Wayles Skelton. It was now 45 years after the death of the third President, a virtual bankrupt largely because of endless expenditures on Monticello and summer residence nearby.

"Architecture is my delight," he had confessed, "and putting up and pulling down one of my favorite amusements." More than a hundred slaves and free men (including one British army deserter) were employed as excavators, masons, bricklayers, carpenters, ironmongers, cabinet-makers, at Monticello some years.

Naturally he had designed the obelisk gravestone, and written its inscription "Here was buried Thomas Jefferson, author of the Declaration of American Independence, of the Statute of Virginia for religious freedom & Father of the University of Virginia."

Jefferson's one surviving daughter, Martha Randolph, occupied Monticello, "bare and Comfortless," for five years, until a Charlottesville druggist took possession. It underwent vicissitudes until the property was acquired by Jefferson Monroe Levy, a New York Congressman possessing wealth, who began restoration. The property was passed on to Thomas Jefferson Memorial Foundation, as a shrine.

19th century wood-engraving of "Monticello" mansion, in a period during which neglect of upkeep was making it a ruin.

Thug Buried As Pauper

PERTH AMBOY, N.J. (AP) — Christopher Francis McCarthy, shot to death by police following a loan office hold-up, will be buried in an unmarked pauper's grave because his relatives in Ohio have not claimed his remains.

McCarthy's survivors include his widow Elaine, four teenage children and a sister in Cleveland.

Middlesex County Police Chief Silvio Donatelli said the widow could not be located. The other relatives, he said, "didn't want to have anything to do with it."

McCarthy, 41, was shot to death last Thursday after he took $21,000 from a loan association in Edison and shot two officers. One of the officers, Frank Papaianni, died of his wounds, but he and wounded officer, William Gorman, fired the shots that killed McCarthy.

At the time McCarthy was being sought by the FBI for having escaped last May from the Ohio Penitentiary, where he

State Patrol Chief Takes Hard Line On Pen Riots

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The head of the Ohio Highway Patrol said here Wednesday that he did not believe in negotiating with rebelling prisoners such as those at Attica State Prison in New York.

"... If something like Attica happens here, and I have anything to say about it, we will go in sooner than they did in Attica, and there will be no negotiations," Col. Robert M. Chiaramonte, superintendent of the patrol, said in an interview before addressing the Greater Cleveland Safety Council's board of control.

Thirty inmates and 10 prison employees were killed in Attica. Chiaramonte told the safety council that a "line patrol" system introduced statewide about 18 months ago has contributed to a 10 per cent reduction in traffic fatalities in the first six months of the year. He also said he is having a hard time getting the majority of the 300 courts the patrol deals with to accept credit cards from persons with insufficient cash to post bond.

"I don't like the way things are right now, but the courts are reluctant to accept cards and I don't understand it," he said.

The system involves assigning one man to one patrol car over designated routes chosen because of traffic volume and accident potential. Where possible, cars park crosswise at highway crossover points for 10 minutes each hour to be visible to traffic moving in both directions.

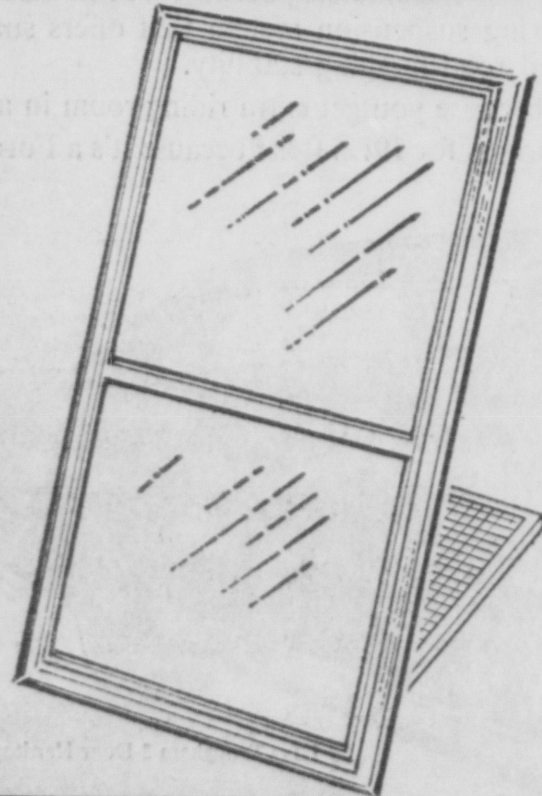

"We are trying to outcut them," Chiaramonte said, "trying to make them (drivers) think we have 10 times the manpower we have. We set out to make people think, give them a conscience. Sometimes it works."

He also said he is having a hard time getting the majority of the 300 courts the patrol deals with to accept credit cards from persons with insufficient cash to post bond.

"I don't like the way things are right now, but the courts are reluctant to accept cards and I don't understand it," he said.

Round-Up Opens WHS 1971 Season

September 3 was Round-Up night at Westfall. Master of ceremonies for the evening was Jerry Leist, broadcaster for WRE. The football squad, having 28 members this year, was introduced. The football coaches are Bill Vance, Tom Hammon, Jim James, and Charles Wilcox.

Cheerleaders were next to make the scene. The junior varsity squad includes Tina Barthen, Rae Fenstermaker, Micky Horn, Laura Jude, Kathy Logan, and Jill Long. Varsity cheerleaders are Karen Fausnaugh, Marilyn Keller, Kim Long, Stephanie Neff, Becky Shannon, and Pam Williams.

James Kibby, Westfall band director, said a few words concerning the band's activities this summer. He also introduced the majorettes. They are: Head Majorette Bev McDill and Cheryl Miller, Janet Schleich, Melanie Bliss, Diane Snyder. The majorettes reported on the excellent job and the awards they won at majorette camp this summer. The band, this year marching 60, played five of the popular songs they had learned.

Highlight of the evening was the Miss Mustang contest for any Westfall girl in grade 9 through 12. Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hooks and Mr. and Mrs. Pearl Trapp were in charge of the contest.

The eleven girls who entered were questioned about their age, grade in school and extracurricular activities. The field of eleven was narrowed to five and the three finalists named from those. They were: Second runner-up Cindy Hildenbrand, first runner-up Wendy Neff, and Miss Mustang, Cheryl Miller. Each girl received a U.S. Savings Bond. Cheryl also received a dozen roses and a trophy.

Magazine Sales Start For Junior Class

"Do you want to buy a magazine?" This seems to be the number "1" question asked by all juniors at Westfall.

The junior class is now selling magazines to raise money for the Junior-Senior Prom, graduation and other important events that will be coming their way. The sale will last for two weeks. Juniors have set their goal at $4,000. They are trying to beat last year's junior class record, which was an all time high for Westfall.

Prayer Bill Forced Out

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has forced a school prayer constitutional amendment out of committee, setting up a vote which may come in November.

The legislation is designed to negate a Supreme Court ruling against official prayers in schools.

The 218th signature was affixed Tuesday to a petition removing the bill from the Judiciary Committee, which had not acted on it.

Normally votes on measures discharged from committees are held on the second and fourth Mondays of the month, but those will be holidays in October for Columbus Day and Veterans Day. Further discharge procedures make a vote unlikely until November.

The amendment would declare that nothing in the Constitution dealing with separation of church and state shall abridge the right of "persons lawfully assembled in any public building which is supported in whole or in part through the expenditure of public funds, to participate in nondenominational prayer."

Military Pay Boost Rapped

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Cost of Living Council is reported opposed to allowing a congressionally-approved $2.4 billion military pay raise to go into effect during the wage price freeze.

Although the council declined official comment, sources familiar with the group's thinking said it regards the huge military pay hike as inconsistent with the freeze.

Although the pay boost is more than twice what the Pentagon originally proposed, Defense officials said they favored putting it into effect on the congressionally-decreed date of Oct. 1.

The pay raise was included in a bill passed Tuesday extending the Selective Service System, and needs only President Nixon's signature before going into effect.

Recalling one rebuff by the council last month, Pentagon officials indicated they expect the council to reject implementing the higher military pay scales until after the freeze ends Nov. 13 and to rule out any retroactivity.

A council ruling to delay the pay increase almost certainly would be challenged by Chairman F. Edward Hebert, D-La., of the House Armed Services Committee. Hebert has insisted there is no legal way for Nixon to put off the higher pay beyond Oct. 1.

The pay raise is intended to end reliance on the draft as the military moves toward its goal of all-volunteer armed forces.

Council sources acknowledged there are questions as to whether the Congressional pay action or the President's executive order imposing the wage-price freeze has precedence, or whether a new presidential order might be required.

Some Pentagon authorities noted that, if he chose, Nixon could overrule the council.

Team Loses Grid Opener

Westfall's season opener proved disappointing as a good Berne Union team moved against the Mustangs with great efficiency. The final score was 25-6.

Westfall looked weak the first half as Berne Union scored twice in the first quarter and once in the second quarter. Westfall went scoreless.

The team's defense showed some improvement in the second half. They held their opponents to no touchdowns the third quarter and one touchdown the fourth quarter while Westfall's Dave Shannon went in to score from the two-yard line with a quarterback sneak.

Dave Shannon came through once more when Westfall played Madison Plains. No score came until the second quarter when Shannon made the first touchdown of the game.

In the fourth quarter, Westfall was barely behind with a score of 12-6. Within five minutes the Plains had managed two more touchdowns. The final score was 32-6.

The schedule for the remainder of the year is as follows:
Sept. 24 East Clinton (H)
Oct. 1 Piketon (H)
Oct. 8 Zane Trace (H)
Oct. 15 Logan Elm (A)
Oct. 22 Unioto (H)
Oct. 29 Paint Valley (A)

Graduate Returns As Office Staff

BRENDA WINNER

Miss Brenda Winner of Route 2, Williamsport, returned to Westfall this year as office secretary.

In her high school days, Brenda was a member of the National Honor Society, Latin Club, GAA, newspaper staff and student council. She was a cheerleader for four years, Miss Westfall in 1969 and Homecoming queen in 1970.

Brenda likes being back at Westfall and finds it is very different coming back as secretary.

Junior Rings In New Style

These are just a few of the remarks made Sept. 10 when the "73" class rings arrived at Westfall. Their arrival caused a lot of excitement in the junior class. Now that they have their rings, they really feel like upperclassmen.

This year, instead of the traditional square rings the juniors received a new round style. The rings show the student's initials, the class year and the school insignia.

On the day of their arrival, the rings were compared to those of the seniors. The difference in the two rings is one of the main reasons the juniors like them so well. These will be worn with pride for many years to come.

Trail Talk

Who's the freshman who has been fraternizing with the seniors? How about it Rex!

Godlocks is the greatest!

Who said that there was no such word as "gotten"?

What was the name of the last song played by the band at the Berne Union game? Ask S. J.

What senior boy has been hiring secretaries for every day of the week? Really, Joe!

What girls at Westfall have taken to wearing spacesuits?

Who was the guy on the windshield, J.S.?

Who is the humanitarian in 4th period government class who seems to be starting a zoo of his own? Could it be Mr. H.?

New Scheduling Creates Confusion

Sounds of laughter and dismay can be heard in all the chaos at Westfall.

The new time system seems to be confusing everyone. The high school students get out at 2:24 each afternoon unlike last year's time of 3:45. This makes class periods only 40 minutes instead of the dragging one hour. The lab classes had to be arranged for a period and a half resulting in an extra 20 minutes.

It is nothing unusual to see a student walk into a class in a daze, wondering where he is supposed to be. This applies not only to freshmen but to the upperclassmen as well.

Eventually the kids will learn their way around and will again be their old selves trying to get out of a class instead of trying to find their way into one.

Girls Model New Style Gym Attire

"They sure don't look like gym suits." This remark was made by many of the girls upon seeing the suits for the first time.

The one-piece suits appear as shorts and a short-sleeved top on the wearer. They are gold and rich brown in color and are made of easy-care polyester. This color was chosen because of its attractiveness and wearability. Freshmen and sophomores are required to buy the suits and little fuss had been made.

Effort To Boost Enlistment In National Guard Slated

HONOLULU (AP) — Maj. Gen. L. E. Weber, new director of the Army National Guard, says community service at the grass roots level will be stressed in an effort to make the organization more appealing to youth and to help it solve recruiting problems.

The Guard also will try to recruit more blacks, he added. Weber said in an interview Tuesday that the Guard will emphasize work in federal Head Start and other programs as an incentive for signing up. It also will organize community groups for tackling pollution

But Weber, here for a convention, said that recruiting of blacks is of prime importance.

"This is probably the biggest single problem we face for the moment," said Weber, a veteran of World War II and Korea whose military career began as a Marine private in 1942. He was adjutant general for Oklahoma when selected for his new post.

He hopes to get more blacks into the Guard by working with national black organizations.

"If we can get blacks to accept the Guard on that level, and if it trickles down from them to the local level, that should go a long way in solving the problem," Weber said.

The Guard's long-range goal is to have the same percentage of black members in a unit as there are in the general population for a particular geographical area, he added. Now, only a little over 1 per cent of the Guard is made up of black members, a Guard spokesman said.

The general said that riot control would not get special stress in the future. But he added: "The National Guard has a multiple role, and civil disturbance is just one task that probably doesn't deserve any emphasis over others."

"We can't deny the importance of the civil disturbance role, but there are others, such as the Guard's role in disasters, that are of equal importance."

Sneek-A-Peek

By Pickaway County Library Staff

Picture books, new and attractive, are steadily being added to the collection in the Sneek-a-Peek Room. Here are brief comments on some of them.

On of the most elaborately packaged children's books to come out in a long time is "The Bird from the Sea." It's involved art work was designed to look as if the text were printed on embroidered oriental scrolls. Ed Young, who is the illustrator, was inspired by miniature Persian paintings of northern India. For its beauty alone, the book is worth careful viewing. Renee Karol Weiss wrote the fable which is, in itself, charming. It is sure to appeal to children of pre-school age.

Originally published in Holland, "Dirk's Wooden Shoes" by Iona Fennema may well become a children's classic. Illustrations and story blend to show a little boy's faith in magic, and the strange circumstances that bring a happy ending. Dirk wants a certain pair of wooden shoes. Even though they are taken across the ocean to America by mistake, they find their way back to Holland.

Charlotte Zolotow and Leonard Weisgard have teamed up to present a simple, poetical book for the very young in "Wake Up and Good Night." With this combination, how can the book fail to be a winner? For the very young.

Tom Tegenor must have had his tongue in his cheek as he wrote "Smart Bear." Smart Bear was really too smart for his own good. He had such a high opinion of his intelligence that he priced himself right out of his "Question Answering" business. It took a smart wife to set him straight.

Help in preparing pre-schoolers for a new baby in the family is provided in "Peggy's New Brother" by Eleanor Shick. Its story line is simple, and the illustrations clearly demonstrate the action.

City slums provide the background for fun and games in "The Day the Gang Got Rich" by William Kotzwinkle. George, whose old tennis racket was the gang's baseball bat, got five dollars from a man who accidentally ran over it. George and his gang went on a spree that included sodas, banana splits, pretzels, comic books, and candy. And no one had a tummy ache! Drawings by Joe Servello are appropriate to the story.

Hirohito-Nixon Meeting Details Are Worked Out

WASHINGTON (AP) — Emperor Hirohito, the first reigning Japanese monarch to leave home soil, will meet privately with President Nixon for 30 to 40 minutes when he touches down at Anchorage, Alaska, Sunday night en route to Europe.

The White House said Wednesday that Hirohito and Empress Nagako are scheduled to land at Elmendorf Air Force Base near Anchorage about 10 p.m. to a welcome by the President, Mrs. Nixon and Secretary of State William P. Rogers.

The party will then go to the air base home of Lt. Gen. and Mrs. Robert G. Ruegg. Mrs. Nixon and the empress will remain with the emperor and the President for a few minutes, then leave them in private conversation.

The Japanese monarch is scheduled to remain on the ground for about an hour and 40 minutes and then continue on to Europe. The Nixons plan to return to Washington Monday.

Deny Nixon's China Trip Imminent

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House has denied President Nixon will jet directly to Peking from Alaska next week, stating plans for the China trip will be disclosed in advance.

Press Secretary Ron Ziegler issued the denial Wednesday after reports circulated that Nixon would depart for mainland China after concluding his trip to Alaska on Monday.

Ziegler declined to state what—if any—negotiations were underway as a prelude to Nixon's visit.

In addition, the press secretary said the White House has no inside information on what is happening currently in China.

Communist National day and temporary grounding of civilian air traffic.

"As you know," he said, "we don't have diplomatic relations with them." He added the White House knows nothing more than what has appeared in news reports.

In 1971, Finland had 114,000 private vehicles registered.

Board Ordered To Register Students As Qualified Voters

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Hamilton County Board of Elections has been ordered on a temporary basis to register any qualified student attending a learning institution in the county.

Judge Timothy S. Hogan of the U.S. District Court here issued the order Wednesday. It clashes with an Ohio law requiring college students to register and vote in their home counties, not where they go to school.

SWIMMING NUDE is fine ($50) a judge told Cathy Carlson, 22, in Bedford, Ohio, after she and five others were cited for swimming au naturel in Tinker's Creek. She decided to serve five days in the workhouse rather than pay the fine.

A "qualified" student is one meeting age and residency requirements of the county.

The order, which Hogan said would stand "until amended by this court," was issued as the result of a suit by seven students from Xavier University and three from Edgewood College. Named defendants were Ohio Secretary of State Ted Brown and four officials of the county board of elections.

In Columbus, Brown said he was reserving comment on any possible statewide implications of the order until he could see a copy of the decision.

Meanwhile, Hogan set a hearing for either today or Friday on any motion the defendants may file to dissolve the order. Hogan said that any objections to the students' request for a three-judge panel to make a permanent ruling on the constitutional issue in the case would also be heard.

The students contended the board had refused to register them and that this violates their constitutional rights. They said the defendants have "singled out college students for special treatment" and have "fenced college students out" of the city and county elections.

The students claimed they plan to make their homes in Cincinnati.

Effort To Boost Enlistment In National Guard Slated

HONOLULU (AP) — Maj. Gen. L. E. Weber, new director of the Army National Guard, says community service at the grass roots level will be stressed in an effort to make the organization more appealing to youth and to help it solve recruiting problems.

The Guard also will try to recruit more blacks, he added. Weber said in an interview Tuesday that the Guard will emphasize work in federal Head Start and other programs as an incentive for signing up. It also will organize community groups for tackling pollution and other related problems.

But Weber, here for a convention, said that recruiting of blacks is of prime importance.

"This is probably the biggest single problem we face for the moment," said Weber, a veteran of World War II and Korea whose military career began as a Marine private in 1942. He was adjutant general for Oklahoma when selected for his new post.

He hopes to get more blacks into the Guard by working with national black organizations.

"If we can get blacks to accept the Guard on that level, and if it trickles down from them to the local level, that should go a long way in solving the problem," Weber said.

The Guard's long-range goal is to have the same percentage of black members in a unit as there are in the general population for a particular geographical area, he added. Now, only a little over 1 per cent of the Guard is made up of black members, a Guard spokesman said.

The general said that riot control would not get special stress in the future. But he added: "The National Guard has a multiple role, and civil disturbance is just one task that probably doesn't deserve any emphasis over others."

"We can't deny the importance of the civil disturbance role, but there are others, such as the Guard's role in disasters, that are of equal importance."

Sneek-A-Peek

By Pickaway County Library Staff

Picture books, new and attractive, are steadily being added to the collection in the Sneek-a-Peek Room. Here are brief comments on some of them.

On of the most elaborately packaged children's books to come out in a long time is "The Bird from the Sea." It's involved art work was designed to look as if the text were printed on embroidered oriental scrolls. Ed Young, who is the illustrator, was inspired by miniature Persian paintings of northern India. For its beauty alone, the book is worth careful viewing. Renee Karol Weiss wrote the fable which is, in itself, charming. It is sure to appeal to children of pre-school age.

Originally published in Holland, "Dirk's Wooden Shoes" by Ilona Pennema may well become a children's classic. Illustrations and story blend to show a little boy's faith in magic, and the strange circumstances that bring a happy ending. Dirk wants a certain pair of wooden shoes. Even though they are taken across the ocean to America by mistake, they find their way back to Holland.

Charlotte Zolotow and Leonard Weisgard have teamed up to present a simple, poetical book for the very young in "Wake Up and Good Night." With this combination, how can the book fail to be a winner? For the very young.

Tom Techenor must have had his tongue in his cheek as he wrote "Smart Bear." Smart Bear was really too smart for his own good. He had such a high opinion of his intelligence that he priced himself right out of his "Question Answering" business. It took a smart wife to set him straight.

Help in preparing preschoolers for a new baby in the family is provided in "Peggy's New Brother" by Eleanor Shick. Its story line is simple, and the illustrations clearly demonstrate the action.

City slums provide the background for fun and games in "The Day the Gang Got Rich" by William Kotzwinkle. George, whose old tennis racket was the gang's baseball bat, got five dollars from a man who accidentally ran over it. George and his gang went on a spree that included sodas, banana splits, pretzels, comic books, and candy. And no one had a tummy ache! Drawings by Joe Servello are appropriate to the story.

Hirohito-Nixon Meeting Details Are Worked Out

WASHINGTON (AP) — Emperor Hirohito, the first reigning Japanese monarch to leave home soil, will meet privately with President Nixon for 30 to 40 minutes when he touches down at Anchorage, Alaska, Sunday night en route to Europe.

The White House said Wednesday that Hirohito and Empress Nagako are scheduled to land at Elmendorf Air Force Base near Anchorage about 10 p.m. to a welcome by the President, Mrs. Nixon and Secretary of State William P. Rogers.

The party will then go to the air base home of Lt. Gen. and Mrs. Robert G. Ruegg. Mrs. Nixon and the empress will remain with the emperor and the President for a few minutes, then leave them in private conversation.

The Japanese monarch is scheduled to remain on the ground for about an hour and 40 minutes and then continue on to Europe. The Nixons plan to return to Washington Monday.

Deny Nixon's China Trip Imminent

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House has denied President Nixon will jet directly to Peking from Alaska next week, stating plans for the China trip will be disclosed in advance.

Press Secretary Ron Ziegler issued the denial Wednesday after reports circulated that Nixon would depart for mainland China after concluding his trip to Alaska on Monday.

Ziegler declined to state what—if any—negotiations were underway as a prelude to Nixon's visit.

In addition, the press secretary said the White House has no inside information on what is happening currently in China.

He referred to the announcement of cancellation of the traditional Oct. 1 parade on the Communist National day and temporary grounding of civilian air traffic.

"As you know," he said, "we don't have diplomatic relations with them." He added he White House knows nothing more than what has appeared in news reports.

In 1971, Finland had 114,000 private vehicles registered.

Claim Cincinnati Library Purchasing 'Wrong' Books

CINCINNATI (AP)—Hamilton County Commissioners have been told a change is needed in the composition of the board of the main Public Library here because "funds are being misspent on pornography and revolution-inciting material."

Members of the Constitutional Heritage Club here leveled the charge during a commission meeting Wednesday and said the material was on the library shelves.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Julian Bowman of Cincinnati led the delegation of club members. Bowman said that the library board "simply has lost control over the selection and purchasing" of books.

"Whoever does the selection and purchasing must be on the wrong side," he said.

Some of the books members objected to, he said, included "Handbook for the Black Revolution," "Red Star over China," and "The Life and Loves of Mr. Jiveass Nigger."

Bowman said the club wrote to the commissioners on Sept. 16 asking that they consider appointing the club's corresponding secretary, Frank Clayton, to the library board.

One of the matters the commissioners had been scheduled to deal with Wednesday was whether to reappoint one member of the board whose term expires Sept. 30.

Cincy Workers Get Pay Hikes OK'd In 1970

CINCINNATI (AP)—About 1,500 municipal workers who ended a strike early in 1970 after winning increased wages will finally receive the hikes in the next two weeks.

City Council authorized the city administration Wednesday to pay more than $700,000 in accrued wage hikes and interest which had been held in escrow pending a ruling on the legality of the raises.

A taxpayers' suit filed here challenged the legality of the action because the increases were negotiated while the workers were on strike. Last week, the Ohio Supreme Court reversed an earlier decision by the Hamilton County Common Pleas Court that the striking workers were not entitled to the raises.

The workers are to receive the wage boosts on Sept. 30 and the interest money on Oct. 4.

Aircraft Carrier Sets Departure Despite Vote

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—A peace group says more than 82 per cent of the 54,721 ballots cast in a street corner straw vote here favored keeping the Navy aircraft carrier Constellation at home. But the Navy says the vessel and its 5,000-man crew will sail for Southeast Asia Nov. 1 anyway.

The vote, held over a five-day period throughout the county with no guarantee that a person did not vote more than once, showed 45,060 ballots opposing the Constellation's departure and 9,661 favoring it, organizers said Wednesday.

CINEMA FEATURE — "Tell Them Willie Boy Is Here" starring Katharine Ross and Robert Redford, a true story, and "I Love My Wife", starring Elliott Gould, are scheduled to open at The Cinema Friday. A special program, "Puff 'N' Stuff" and "The Terry Cook Show" is scheduled 2 p.m. Saturday.

Girl Tells Of Friends' Death In Mountains

EUGENE, Ore. (AP)—"I just wanted to live. I kept thinking of home and my parents and all the people I love. I wouldn't allow myself to die."

But despite her efforts, two of Pamela Sullivan's companions perished while on a survival training exercise in the rugged Three Sisters Wilderness of Central Oregon early this month.

Pamela, 18, gave a written statement on her ordeal shortly after being rescued to officials of Outward Bound, sponsor of the exercise. The statement, released Wednesday, told of a harrowing struggle during the first week of September and of how Joyce Howden, 21, Fall Creek, Ore., and Lorene LaRette, 17, of Sudbury, Mass., died of hypothermia—lowering of the body temperature—in the snow-covered Three Sisters Mountains.

"Halfway up the ridge, Joyce could no longer make it," Pamela's statement said. "We headed back for the shelter. There couldn't find it. We dropped our packs, took our sleeping bags and headed for trees. Joyce just couldn't make it. I pulled and pushed, but she couldn't get to the trees. Also, she was losing her sight and hearing and kept asking us where we were when we were only a few feet away."

"At this time Lorene went for help."

"I wrapped Joyce in all three wet sleeping bags and liners. Then I layed over her with my poncho. Shortly after this she began breathing hard, lost total awareness, went delirious and in about 10 minutes stopped breathing."

"I tried mouth to mouth resuscitation, but no good. After this I stayed around camp maybe five minutes, then I went after Lorene, following her tracks in the snow. I finally caught up with her about 6 p.m. She had sacked out near a lake with her poncho on . . ."

"We packed into some trees. Then I found out she had lost the map and compass . . . We huddled together trying to create warmth . . . Lorene kept saying she just couldn't move. As we talked more, her speech kept getting slurred. I put my wool cap on her, layed myself on her and tried to keep her coherent."

"Her breath kept getting more labored. I kept yelling her name in her ear but she didn't answer. Her eyes were wide open. After about two hours her breathing stopped altogether. I tried artificial resuscitation and chest massage. It did no good."

"I used her body warmth and stayed there 'til Friday morning."

On Friday morning Pamela left Lorene's body in the snow and followed their tracks back to the original camp, arriving that afternoon.

Youth Is Sentenced In Abduction Case

CINCINNATI (AP)—A 16-year-old Cincinnati youth has been sentenced to an indefinite term in the Ohio Reformatory on charges of rape and abduction for immoral purposes.

Judge Benjamin Schwartz of the Hamilton County Juvenile Court handed down the sentence Wednesday against Wayne Harris, but continued charges of armed robbery, auto larceny and taking a car without its owners' consent.

Police said Harris, armed with a knife, forced a 25-year-old housewife from suburban Cleveland to drive to the Avondale section of Cincinnati. He raped her, police said, and drove off with her car, purse, clothing and other possessions.

Police said Harris was on parole to the Ohio Youth Commission and was living at a foster home in Columbus when the incident occurred Sept. 15.

"Now the weather was beautiful and clear," she said.

"I was very tired and cold so I took my clothes off and layed in the sun. The next day was Saturday (Sept. 4). I got some honey and ate it . . . I layed down to sleep . . . When I woke up Vern (Vern Bush, an Outward Bound instructor) found me and we hiked out."

Evaluating her companions' efforts, Pamela said:

"Joyce stayed pretty together. She never got too depressed, but she never fully realized the situation . . ."

"Me—I just wanted to live."

The three girls were a subgroup of 43 young women enrolled in Northwest Outward

Bound, a Eugene-based school which trains young people in outdoor survival.

For two weeks in August they were trained in the wilderness by eight instructors. Then they divided into small teams. With out instructors, the teams were to cross the snow-covered mountains and rendezvous on Aug. 26 near Chambers Lakes east of Eugene.

It was to have been their graduation exercise.

Also, she was losing her sight and hearing and kept asking us where we were when we were only a few feet away."

"At this time Lorene went for help."

"I wrapped Joyce in all three wet sleeping bags and liners. Then I layed over her with my poncho. Shortly after this she began breathing hard, lost total awareness, went delirious and in about 10 minutes stopped breathing."

"I tried mouth to mouth resuscitation, but no good. After this I stayed around camp maybe five minutes, then I went after Lorene, following her tracks in the snow. I finally caught up with her about 6 p.m. She had sacked out near a lake with her poncho on . . ."

"We packed into some trees. Then I found out she had lost the map and compass . . . We huddled together trying to create warmth . . . Lorene kept saying she just couldn't move. As we talked more, her speech kept getting slurred. I put my wool cap on her, layed myself on her and tried to keep her coherent."

"Her breath kept getting more labored. I kept yelling her name in her ear but she didn't answer. Her eyes were wide open. After about two hours her breathing stopped altogether. I tried artificial resuscitation and chest massage. It did no good."

"I used her body warmth and stayed there 'til Friday morning."

On Friday morning Pamela left Lorene's body in the snow and followed their tracks back to the original camp, arriving that afternoon.

Youth Is Sentenced In Abduction Case

CINCINNATI (AP) — A 16-year-old Cincinnati youth has been sentenced to an indefinite term in the Ohio Reformatory on charges of rape and abduction for immoral purposes.

Judge Benjamin Schwartz of the Hamilton County Juvenile Court handed down the sentence Wednesday against Wayne Harris, but continued charges of armed robbery, auto larceny and taking a car without its owners' consent.

Police said Harris, armed with a knife, forced a 25-year-old housewife from suburban Cleveland to drive to the Avondale section of Cincinnati. He raped her, police said, and drove off with her car, purse, clothing and other possessions.

Police said Harris was on parole to the Ohio Youth Commission and was living at a foster home in Columbus when the incident occurred Sept. 15.

"Now the weather was beautiful and clear," she said.

"I was very tired and cold so I took my clothes off and layed in the sun. The next day was Saturday (Sept. 4). I got some honey and ate it . . . I layed down to sleep . . . When I woke up Vern (Vern Bush, an Outward Bound instructor) found me and we hiked out."

Evaluating her companions' efforts, Pamela said:

"Joyce stayed pretty together. She never got too depressed, but she never fully realized the situation . . ."

"Me—I just wanted to live."

The three girls were a subgroup of 43 young women enrolled in Northwest Outward

Bound, a Eugene-based school which trains young people in outdoor survival.

For two weeks in August they were trained in the wilderness by eight instructors. Then they divided into small teams. With out instructors, the teams were to cross the snow-covered mountains and rendezvous on Aug. 26 near Chambers Lakes east of Eugene.

It was to have been their graduation exercise.

North Dakota State Grabs College Division Poll Lead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
North Dakota State, which ran its regular season victory string to 37 with a 28-12 triumph over Montana State last Saturday, grabbed the No. 1 spot in the first Associated Press college division football poll of the year today.

The Bison, who lost half their 1970 team which finished 9-0-1 and third in the final AP poll, received eight first place votes and 275 points from a panel of sportswriters and broadcasters.

Arkansas State, No. 1 and 11-0 last year under Coach Bennie Ellender, was bumped to No. 2 with five first place votes and 207 points. The Indians' 17 returning starters and new coach Bill Davidson barely squeezed past rebuilt Wichita State, which lost several players in an airplane crash last season.

Grambling, which is trying to run Coach Eddie Robinson's victories to 200, chalked up the 194th and 195th already and took the No. 3 spot in the poll after winding up 16th last year.

Montana, which lost to North Dakota State in the Camellia Bowl last season, is No. 4 and Eastern Michigan, which finished 19th last year, is No. 5.

Rounding out the Top 10 are Western Kentucky; Delaware, which is going for its fourth straight Lambert Cup; Eastern Kentucky; Louisiana Tech and Southern Illinois.

Eastern Michigan, Louisiana Tech, Southern Illinois and No. 20 Tennessee Tech each received one first place ballot.

In the lower half are Tennessee State, No. 5 last year; Akron; Tampa, No. 4 last year and a 28-20 victim of Louisiana Tech in its season opener; Trinity of Texas; Wofford; Central Connecticut State; Texas A&I; Southwest Louisiana and Morehead State.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The Kentucky Colonels' Dan Issel says he didn't mind the second-guessers for a while, but after a year they got under his skin.

"They asked why I went to the American Basketball Association, and now I've got the answer," said the ABA stand-out after the Colonels handed the National Basketball Association Baltimore Bullets a 111-85 thrashing Wednesday night.

Hunting will be limited to the Wildcat Hollow primitive weapons deer area in Athens, Morgan and Perry counties and the Salt Fork wildlife area in Guernsey County. Deer of either sex may be taken.

A special primitive weapon permit is required in addition to the regular hunting license and deer permit.

DALLAS (AP) — Mickey Mantle said today he would be interested in a job with the Dallas-Fort Worth franchise in the American League.

He told columnist Blackie Sherrod of the Dallas Times Herald he would consider a possible managerial post.

"Heck yes, I'd be interested in talking about it," Mantle said. "Of course, nobody's gotten in touch with me. But I'd be open to it if the deal's right."

Senators Welcomed By Texas

DALLAS (AP) — Arlington Mayor Tom Vandergriff predicted Wednesday Washington owner Bob Short, who transferred his franchise to Dallas-Fort Worth, will end up batting .500 in baseball through the move.

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — "Everybody in Atlanta knows I'm not the type to go out on the streets and pick a fight," declared Atlanta Braves outfielder Rico Carter after he was cleared Wednesday of charges growing out of a hassle with three city policemen.

"Short will fit like hand in glove in Texas," said Vandergriff, who tried for 13 years to get a big league baseball team to Dallas-Fort Worth. "He thinks big, talks big, and acts big. It's the kind of action we applaud."

Municipal Court Judge Robert Sparks said the incident, which earlier prompted the dismissal of the officers, was "shamefully handled" by city police.

Vandergriff said Short "will be a credit to Texas. He regrets he was not successful in Washington, but we think he did a remarkable job. At the meeting with American League owners, some expressed the same sentiments."

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Wildlife Division officials have announced the state's annual primitive weapons deer season will be Nov. 1-6 this year.

"Any man hates to confess he is a failure. But Bob Short's batting average in baseball will be .500 because he will be successful here."

Legal weapons will be a bow and arrow, single-shot muzzle-loaded rifles of at least .33-cal-

Orioles Cinch Tie For AL East

By BERT ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Sports Writer
Boog Powell, the massive Baltimore Oriole first baseman, has been playing with two sore wrists and a sore hand, and he says it hurts to swing a bat. However, he has not been hurting himself recently ... only the New York Yankees.

oles East Division champions for the third straight year and put them into the AL playoffs against Oakland's West Division winners. Both East teams are idle today, so the earliest pennant clinching could be Friday when the Orioles play the Indians in a two-night doubleheader at Cleveland and the Tigers entertain the Yankees.

The 6-4, 250-pound slugger slammed his 20th and 21st home runs of the season Wednesday night, each a two run shot, as the Orioles pounded the Yankees 10-1 and clinched a tie for the American League's East Division title.

The Tigers' pennant chances were virtually extinguished Wednesday night when they dropped a 3-2 decision to Boston. Elsewhere in the AL, Chicago blanked Oakland 3-0; Kansas City walloped California 10-3; Washington edged Cleveland 3-2, and the Milwaukee at Minnesota game was rained out.

Powell's two homers boosted his runs batted in total for the season to 87 and his batting average to .251, the first time he has been over the .250 mark this year. However, he still is far behind last year's figures of .297, 35 homers and 114 RBI which enabled him to win the AL's Most Valuable Player Award.

Powell was just getting over an injury to his right hand, which was hurt in a slide, when he was hit by a pitch on the hand last week in Detroit.

"It's still sore," he said, "but rest won't help. I just have to keep playing. I can't lay off now and be ready for the playoffs," which are scheduled to begin Oct. 2 in Baltimore.

One more Baltimore victory in seven games or one more loss by secondplace Detroit in six games will make the Oriles win the AL East Division title.

Powell was not the only Orioles' hitting star. Rookie Bobby Grich hit his first major league homer, a three-run shot in the fifth, and Ellie Hendricks collected four hits, drove in two runs and scored one.

The Orioles power barrage helped Jim Palmer win his 19th game. He scattered six hits. Baltimore Manager Earl Weaver said Palmer will get a chance for his 20th victory Sunday against Cleveland. Weaver also said the other Baltimore starters—20-game winner Dave McNally and 19-game winners Mike Cuellar and Pat Dobson—each would work twice more. If each manages to win 20, the Orioles would be the first team with four 20-game winners since the 1920 White Sox.

Hamilton-CHS Tilt Readied

BUCKLING DOWN FOR PLAYOFF — The Pittsburgh Pirates, who last won a pennant in 1960 under Danny Murtaugh, are heading into the N.L. flag playoff with a fine all-around team led by slugger Willie Stargell, top hitters like Roberto Clemente and Manny Sanguillen and ace pitcher Dock Ellis. Murtaugh is the bench boss again after sitting out five years when he became ill with heart attack and moved into a front-office job.

Pirates Clinch Title, Defeat St. Louis, 5-1

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
The corks popped, the champagne spilled and the superlatives flowed.

This was title-clinching time for Pittsburgh Pirates.

"On to the World Series," crooned big Willie Stargell, leading the celebration after the Pirates nailed down the National League's Eastern Division championship with a 5-1 triumph over the St. Louis Cardinals Wednesday night.

Stargell jerked open a champagne bottle and jettisoned a stream at teammates, sparking a crossfire in the euphoric clubhouse.

If Stargell and the rest of the Pirates were happy, they were also a little relieved to shake off the mounting pressure of pennant-chasing.

"This club had pressure on it," said Pittsburgh Manager Danny Murtaugh, "but it responded well. We went into a little slump and came out of it."

The "little" slump to which Murtaugh referred was a string of two losses Sunday and Tuesday as the Pirates failed to clinch the title while lugging the champagne around. But everyone knew it would come sooner or later, right Mr. Stargell? "It's been a team effort," said the slugging outfielder in the time-worn baseball tradition. "We couldn't have gone all the way without every man on this club."

While Pittsburgh locked up the East, the Western Division remained a hot item although in better perspective than in recent days. The front-running San Francisco Giants topped the Houston Astros 3-1 and moved their lead to 2½ games over the Los Angeles Dodgers, who lost 4-1 to the Cincinnati Reds.

Cincy Reds Stop Dodgers; Win 9-6, 4-1

CINCINNATI (AP) — "I told Walter Alton before the series he was my favorite manager, and I was going to give him my best shot," said Cincinnati Manager Sparky Anderson after the Reds swept a two-game set from the pennant-contending Los Angeles Dodgers 9-6 and 4-1.

Gary Nolan allowed the Dodgers one run in the first inning on two hits, then permitted only three more base hits to win his 12th game against 14 losses Wednesday night and pace the Reds to a 4-1 triumph.

The double beating put the Dodgers 2½ games behind the San Francisco Giants in the race for the title in the National League's western division. The Giants beat Houston 3-1 Wednesday.

"I've got to hand the Reds pitchers credit," said Alton. "Don Gullett was great in the first game and Nolan pitched real well against us."

"They were out to beat us, and they put their best up against us. What else can you do. All season long we've been playing about 10 games better than .500 ball. We had one good winning streak, — 10 games. Some people expect you to win six out of seven when you are a contender at the end of the season. It looks like you're not trying, but of course you're trying."

Anderson, whose team won the 1970 National League pennant but fell on hard times this year, sympathized with Alton.

"There's no question that the Dodgers are tense, but so are the Giants. It's a known fact that contenders for the pennant don't usually hit real well at the end of the season. They win with good pitching. That's what happened to us in the playoffs last year and in the World Series."

Tribe Loses, 3-2, Against Senators

WASHINGTON (AP) — Since June 14, the Cleveland Indians have been playing at a .700 clip — in reverse.

The losing trend continued Wednesday night as the lameduck Washington Senator franchise trimmed Cleveland, 3-2, for the Indians 68th loss in their last 97 games.

California Angels Adopted By Nixon

Cavs Face Cincy Royals

KENT, Ohio (AP) — The question marks and the unknown quantities will begin to take a clearer shape tonight for head coach Bill Fitch when his Cleveland Cavaliers take on the Cincinnati Royals here in their exhibition opener.

Fitch knows that his starting quintet of center Walt Wesley, forwards Dave Sorsenson and Bobby Smith and guards John Johnson and John Warren can work as fluidly and score as often as any other team in the league. But he's still unsure who will fill the reserve roles and take up the slack in the areas where the team is weakest—rebounding and defense.

"We were weak in about five or six areas last year," Fitch said, "and we're still weak off the boards and on defense."

"No one stands out like a thumb on the boards or defensively and we don't have a consistent rebounder who can get us 15-20 rebounds a game."

Fitch said what he wants to find out during the exhibition season is which five players "can stand out on defense" the way his five starters do on offense.

"Then, we'll take the best combination of both and start the season," he said, indicating that he would sacrifice some scoring power for defensive ability.

"These exhibitions give us time to get a perspective on how much re-shaping we'll have to do," said Fitch. "We also want to check conditioning and team play."

Three All-Star baseball games have been played in Detroit's Tiger Stadium. They were played in 1941, 1951 and 1971.

Meet The Braves

Two veteran seniors on the Logan Elm High School football team are Dean Godden (18) and Steve Fischer (44). Godden is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Godden, Route 4, and plays defensive back, split end and halfback. Fischer is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bud Fischer, Route 4, and has seen his action this season at defensive halfback.

Highlights in World of Sports

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The Kentucky Colonels' Dan Isel says he didn't mind the second-guessers for a while, but after a year they got under his skin.

"They asked why I went to the American Basketball Association, and now I've got the answer," said the ABA standout after the Colonels handed the National Basketball Association Baltimore Bullets a 111-85 thrashing Wednesday night.

DALLAS (AP) — Mickey Mantle said today he would be interested in a job with the Dallas-Fort Worth franchise in the American League.

He told columnist Blackie Sherrod of the Dallas Times Herald he would consider a possible managerial post.

"Heck yes, I'd be interested in talking about it," Mantle said. "Of course, nobody's gotten in touch with me. But I'd be open to it if the deal's right."

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — "Everybody in Atlanta knows I'm not the type to go out on the streets and pick a fight," declared Atlanta Braves outfielder Rico Carty after he was cleared Wednesday of charges growing out of a hassle with three city policemen.

Municipal Court Judge Robert Sparks said the incident, which earlier prompted the dismissal of the officers, was "shamefully handled" by city police.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Wildlife Division officials have announced the state's annual primitive weapons deer season will be Nov. 1-6 this year.

Legal weapons will be a bow and arrow, single-shot muzzle-loaded rifles of at least .38-caliber and muzzle-loaded using a single ball.

Hunting will be limited to the Wildcat Hollow primitive weapons deer area in Athens, Morgan and Perry counties and the Salt Fork wildlife area in Guernsey County. Deer of either sex may be taken.

A special primitive weapon permit is required in addition to the regular hunting license and deer permit.

Senators Welcomed By Texas

DALLAS (AP) — Arlington Mayor Tom Vandergriff predicted Wednesday Washington owner Bob Short, who transferred his franchise to Dallas-Fort Worth, will end up batting .500 in baseball through the move.

"Short will fit like hand in glove in Texas," said Vandergriff, who tried for 13 years to get a big league baseball team to Dallas-Fort Worth. "He thinks big, talks big, and acts big. It's the kind of action we applaud."

Vandergriff said Short "will be a credit to Texas. He regrets he was not successful in Washington, but we think he did a remarkable job. At the meeting with American League owners, some expressed the same sentiments.

"Any man hates to confess he is a failure. But Bob Short's batting average in baseball will be .500 because he will be successful here."

Vandergriff said he looked for Dallas-Fort Worth to double

Tiger CC Runners Win Dual Meet

Circleville High School Cross Country runners coasted to an 18-53 win over Westfall Wednesday.

Steve Richards paced the two miles in 10:17, finishing three seconds ahead of Dick Liston.

Bill Blaney of Westfall was third in 10:30 to pace the Mustang harriers.

The next five places went to Circleville. Jeff Robbins was fourth, Glen Gillespie fifth, Matt McGowan sixth, Jo McGowan seventh and Paul Cupp eighth. Kennedy and Metzger of Westfall were ninth and 10th in the meet.

Negro Heads Traffic In Baltimore

BALTIMORE (AP) — Maj. William A. Harris became the highest-ranking Negro in the history of the Baltimore Police Department when he was promoted to lieutenant colonel and given charge of the Traffic Division.

Washington's 1971 attendance of 700,000 in 1972.

"We will be a credit to the league," Vandergriff said.

Vandergriff said some thought had been given to building a new stadium. He said it will cost from $2 to $3 million to get Turnpike Stadium—located between Dallas and Fort Worth—to 45,000 capacity by April, 1973.

Hamilton-CHS Tilt Readied

BUCKLING DOWN FOR PLAYOFF — The Pittsburgh Pirates, who last won a pennant in 1960 under Danny Murtaugh, are heading into the N.L. flag playoff with a fine all-around team led by slugger Willie Stargell.

top hitters like Roberto Clemente and Manny Sanguillen and ace pitcher Dock Ellis. Murtaugh is the bench boss again after sitting out five years when he became ill with heart attack and moved into a front-office job.

Pirates Clinch Title, Defeat St. Louis, 5-1

By KEN RAPPOPORT

Associated Press Sports Writer
The corks popped, the champagne spilled and the superlatives flowed.

This was title-clinching time for Pittsburgh Pirates.

"On to the World Series," crooned big Willie Stargell, leading the celebration after the Pirates nailed down the National League's Eastern Division championship with a 5-1 triumph over the St. Louis Cardinals Wednesday night.

Stargell jerked open a champagne bottle and jettisoned a stream at teammates, sparking a crossfire in the euphorious clubhouse.

If Stargell and the rest of the Pirates were happy, they were also a little relieved to shake off the mounting pressure of pennant-chasing.

"This club had pressure on it," said Pittsburgh Manager Danny Murtaugh, "but it responded well. We went into a little slump and came out of it."

The "little" slump to which Murtaugh referred was a string of two losses Sunday and Tuesday as the Pirates failed to clinch the title while logging the champagne around. But everyone knew it would come sooner or later, right Mr. Stargell? "It's been a team effort," said the slugging outfielder in the time-worn baseball tradition. "We couldn't have gone all the way without every man on this club."

While Pittsburgh locked up the East, the Western Division remained a hot item although in better perspective than in recent days. The front-running San Francisco Giants topped the Houston Astros 3-1 and moved their lead to 2½ games over the Los Angeles Dodgers, who lost 4-1 to the Cincinnati Reds.

The third-place Atlanta Braves, meanwhile, were mathematically eliminated after losing 7-3 to the San Diego Padres.

In the other National games, the Chicago Cubs bounced the New York Mets 4-1 and the Montreal Expos bested the Philadelphia Phillies 2-0.

The Eastern title was the second straight for the Pirates, who lost last year's National League playoffs to the Cincinnati Reds and watched the World Series on television.

"To a great extent, winning the title was a lot like last year," said Pittsburgh third baseman Richie Hebner. "Only this time, I hope we're around to go to the World Series."

Luke Walker and Dave Giusti combined for a six-hitter as the Pirates clinched the division title five days earlier than last season. Walker pitched the first six innings and yielded four singles while Giusti finished up for his 29th save.

The winning run, the Pirates' second tally in the fourth, was scored when Stargell opened with a walk and Robertson and Manny Sanguillen delivered singles.

Bobby Bonds knocked in two runs, including a tie-breaking homer in the fifth inning and Juan Marichal pitched a six-hitter in San Francisco's victory that gave the Giants a little breathing room over the Dodgers.

"It puts us closer to where we're going," said San Francisco Manager Charlie Fox. "We just broke out of our slump. We got some hits."

The Giants' slump has been something, all right. Prior to Wednesday night, they had lost 13 of 16 games and most of a once - commanding 8½ - game lead over Los Angeles.

Cincy Reds Stop Dodgers; Win 9-6, 4-1

CINCINNATI (AP) — "I told Walter Alton before the series he was my favorite manager, and I was going to give him my best shot," said Cincinnati Manager Sparky Anderson after the Reds swept a two-game set from the pennant-contending Los Angeles Dodgers 9-6 and 4-1.

Gary Nolan allowed the Dodgers one run in the first inning on two hits, then permitted only three more base hits to win his 12th game against 14 losses Wednesday night and pace the Reds to a 4-1 triumph.

The double beating put the Dodgers 2½ games behind the San Francisco Giants in the race for the title in the National League's western division. The Giants beat Houston 3-1 Wednesday.

"I've got to hand the Reds pitchers credit," said Alton. "Don Gullett was great in the first game and Nolan pitched real well against us."

"They were out to beat us, and they put their best up against us. What else can you do. All season long we've been playing about 10 games better than .500 ball. We had one good winning streak — 10 games. Some people expect you to win six out of seven when you are a contender at the end of the season. It looks like you're not trying, but of course you're trying."

Anderson, whose team won the 1970 National League pennant but fell on hard times this year, sympathized with Alton.

"There's no question that the Dodgers are tense, but so are the Giants. It's a known fact that contenders for the pennant don't usually hit real well at the end of the season. They win with good pitching. That's what happened to us in the playoffs last year and in the World Series."

Tribe Loses, 3-2, Against Senators

WASHINGTON (AP) — Since June 14, the Cleveland Indians have been playing at a .700 clip — in reverse.

The losing trend continued Wednesday night as the lame-duck Washington Senator franchise trimmed Cleveland, 3-2, for the Indians 68th loss in their last 97 games.

The Circleville Tigers face a "quick, physical" team when they tangle with Hamilton Twp. Friday night at Tiger field, according to CHS head coach Denny Williams.

Speaking Wednesday, Williams praised the Tigers' next opponent. "We can't take them too lightly," he said. "They have a sound defense and can move the football."

Heart of the Hamilton offense is a senior quarterback who is a good passer. Operating from various sets of the standard T formation, Hamilton shuffles their offensive plays from quick traps and off-tackle thrusts to play-action passes.

Their setbacks are reported small, quick and dangerous in open situations.

HAMILTON won their opener by smashing Columbus North 28-0. Last week, they tied Wehrle Memorial 20-20.

A common link between the two squads is the Teays Valley Vikings. Circleville topped Teays Valley 36-6 last Friday. Wehrle Memorial beat the Vikings 40-6 in their first game of the season.

The Tigers enter the contest without the services of split end, Iain Griffey, who injured his knee last week against the Vikings.

Replacing him at the end position will be Dave Webb. The Tiger halfback, who has been alternating his backfield duties with Mike Chelkowski, will relinquish the spot to Chelkowski.

The Tigers, in nipping Grove City 8-6 and thumping Teays Valley, have rushed for 305 yards in the young season. With 13 of 27 passes completed for 129 yards, they possess a potent offense that could prove troublesome to Hamilton.

Defensively, the Tigers have allowed their opponents 276 yards on the ground and only 26 yards passing — these coming on only three completions in 19 tries.

Circleville has outscored the opposition 44-12, while Hamilton Twp. holds a 48-20 edge.

NFL Data Confused By Upsets

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Football League team statistics released today add further to the confusion created by the opening day's string of upsets.

In the American Conference, the Cincinnati Bengals, who won their opener, are No. 1 in total offense and the Baltimore Colts, who won their opener, are No. 1 in total defense.

In the National Conference, the San Francisco 49ers, who lost their opener, are No. 1 in total offense and the St. Louis Cardinals, who lost their opener, are No. 1 in total defense.

The Bengals lead the AFC with 532 yards gained overall while San Francisco is tops in the NFC with 372. Defensively, the Colts are first in the AFC with 118 yards allowed and the Cardinals are leaders in the NFC with 213 permitted.

San Francisco also is No. 1 in rushing in the NFC while Philadelphia is tops in passing yardage. Detroit is the leader against the rush and Minnesota has the best pass defense mark.

In the AFC, Baltimore is also tops in one offensive category, rushing. Buffalo is No. 1 in passing. Defensively, Cleveland is the best against the rush and the New York Jets the leaders against the pass.

California Angels Adopted By Nixon

Orioles Cinch Tie For AL East

By BERT ROSENTHAL

Associated Press Sports Writer

Boog Powell, the massive Baltimore Oriole first baseman, has been playing with two sore wrists and a sore hand, and he says it hurts to swing a bat. However, he has not been hurting himself recently ... only the New York Yankees.

The 6-4, 250-pound slugger slammed his 20th and 21st home runs of the season Wednesday night, each a two-run shot, as the Orioles pounded the Yankees 10-1 and clinched a tie for the American League's East Division title.

One more Baltimore victory in seven games or one more loss by second-place Detroit in six games will make the Orioles East Division champions for the third straight year and put them into the AL playoffs against Oakland's West Division winners. Both East teams are idle today, so the earliest pennant clinching could be Friday when the Orioles play the Indians in a two-night doubleheader at Cleveland and the Tigers entertain the Yankees.

The Tigers' pennant chances were virtually extinguished Wednesday night when they dropped a 3-2 decision to Boston. Elsewhere in the AL, Chicago blanked Oakland 3-0; Kansas City walloped California 10-3; Washington edged Cleveland 3-2, and the Milwaukee at Minnesota game was rained out.

Powell's two homers boosted his runs batted in total for the season to 87 and his batting average to .251, the first time he has been over the .250 mark this year. However, he still is far behind last year's figures of .297, 35 homers and 114 RBI which enabled him to win the AL's Most Valuable Player Award.

Powell was just getting over an injury to his right hand, which was hurt in a slide, when he was hit by a pitch on the hand last week in Detroit.

"It's still sore," he said, "but rest won't help. I just have to keep playing. I can't lay off now and be ready for the playoffs," which are scheduled to begin Oct. 2 in Baltimore.

Powell was not the only Orioles' hitting star. Rookie Bobby Grich hit his first major league homer, a three-run shot in the fifth, and Ellie Hendricks collected four hits, drove in two runs and scored one.

The Orioles power barrage helped Jim Palmer win his 19th game. He scattered six hits.

Baltimore Manager Earl Weaver said Palmer will get a chance for his 20th victory Sunday against Cleveland. Weaver also said the other Baltimore starters—20-game winner Dave McNally and 19-game winners Mike Cuellar and Pat Dobson—each would work twice more. If each manages to win 20, the Orioles would be the first team with four 20-game winners since the 1920 White Sox.

ten as any other team in the league. But he's still unsure who will fill the reserve roles and take up the slack in the areas where the team is weakest—rebounding and defense.

"We were weak in about five or six areas last year," Pitch said, "and we're still weak off the boards and on defense."

"No one stands out like a thumb on the boards or defensively and we don't have a consistent rebounder who can get us 15-20 rebounds a game."

Fitch said what he wants to find out during the exhibition season is which five players "can stand out on defense" the way his five starters do on offense.

"Then, we'll take the best combination of both and start the season," he said, indicating that he would sacrifice some scoring power for defensive ability.

"These exhibitions give us time to get a perspective on how much re-shaping we'll have to do," said Fitch. "We also want to check conditioning and team play."

Three All-Star baseball games have been played in Detroit's Tiger Stadium. They were played in 1941, 1951 and 1971.

NFO President

Recommends

Economic Program

President Oren Lee Staley of the National Farmers Organization has urged President Nixon to put a five-point economic program into effect immediately after his wage-price freeze expires.

The NFO president's recommendations were made at a conference with farm leaders. House to suggest steps to be taken by the government after the 90-day freeze is to end.

These are the steps Staley proposed to the President:

Bring down interest rates, which are highly inflationary and discourage investment in production capacity. This would have an immediate and direct effect on costs and prices.

Increase taxes on excessive corporate profits and in well-to-do tax brackets to take the fire out of the inflationary part of the economy, to provide support for essential government programs, and to avoid deficits.

Launch a massive trust-busting drive to end monopolistically fixed and administered prices and restore competition to an economy once heralded as a competitive free enterprise system.

Cooperate with other nations in establishing floor or minimum price levels for major agricultural commodities traded in world markets. This would increase income from agricultural exports and allow U.S. farm price support levels to be raised.

Raise U.S. farm price support levels to remove an inequity in the economy that drains rural areas, not only of farm families but of small businesses and jobs as well, and leads and beats the recession. Correcting this imbalance is an absolute necessity for curing the nation's economic ills.

YMCA Notes And News

Interest Groups Organized by YMCA

Special interest groups and clubs in cycling, hiking and nature, ping-pong, chess and checkers, volleyball, paddle rackets and badminton, jogging and health, billiards, bridge and many other groups can be organized by the YMCA.

A few interested people with skills and interest in a particular hobby or activity can join with the YMCA in setting up these groups.

Starting on Sept. 30, Youth and Adults can meet with Mr. Don Hendricks to set up a new ping-pong club. The group is scheduled to meet weekly, starting at 6 p.m. with instruction for youth and adults and actual play from 7 to 10 p.m.

Bob Ogden and Randy Clark will meet at 6:30 p.m. with men interested in playing volleyball. The group is scheduled to meet weekly on Thursdays from 6 to 7:30 p.m. Instructional Volley ball will be available for youth and adults on Thursday from 5 to 6 p.m. Also being considered is a Monday Husband and Wife volleyball program, from 8 to 9:30 p.m. Those interested in this program are also encouraged to attend Thursday's Meeting.

For those interested in cycling, a club organization meeting will be held Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at the YMCA. A tentative club schedule of cycling trips and bi-monthly meetings at the Y will be made. The proposed cycling program will be open to families, Junior and Senior High boys and girls.

NFO President

Recommends

Economic Program

President Oren Lee Staley of the National Farmers Organization has urged President Nixon to put a five-point economic program into effect immediately after his wage-price freeze expires.

The NFO president's recommendations were made at a conference with farm leaders. House to suggest steps to be taken by the government after the 90-day freeze is to end.

These are the steps Staley proposed to the President: Bring down interest rates, which are highly inflationary and discourage investment in production capacity. This would have an immediate and direct effect on costs and prices.

Increase taxes on excessive corporate profits and in well-to-do tax brackets to take the fire out of the inflationary part of the economy, to provide support for essential government programs, and to avoid deficits.

Launch a massive trust-busting drive to end monopolistically fixed and administered prices and restore competition to an economy once heralded as a competitive free enterprise system.

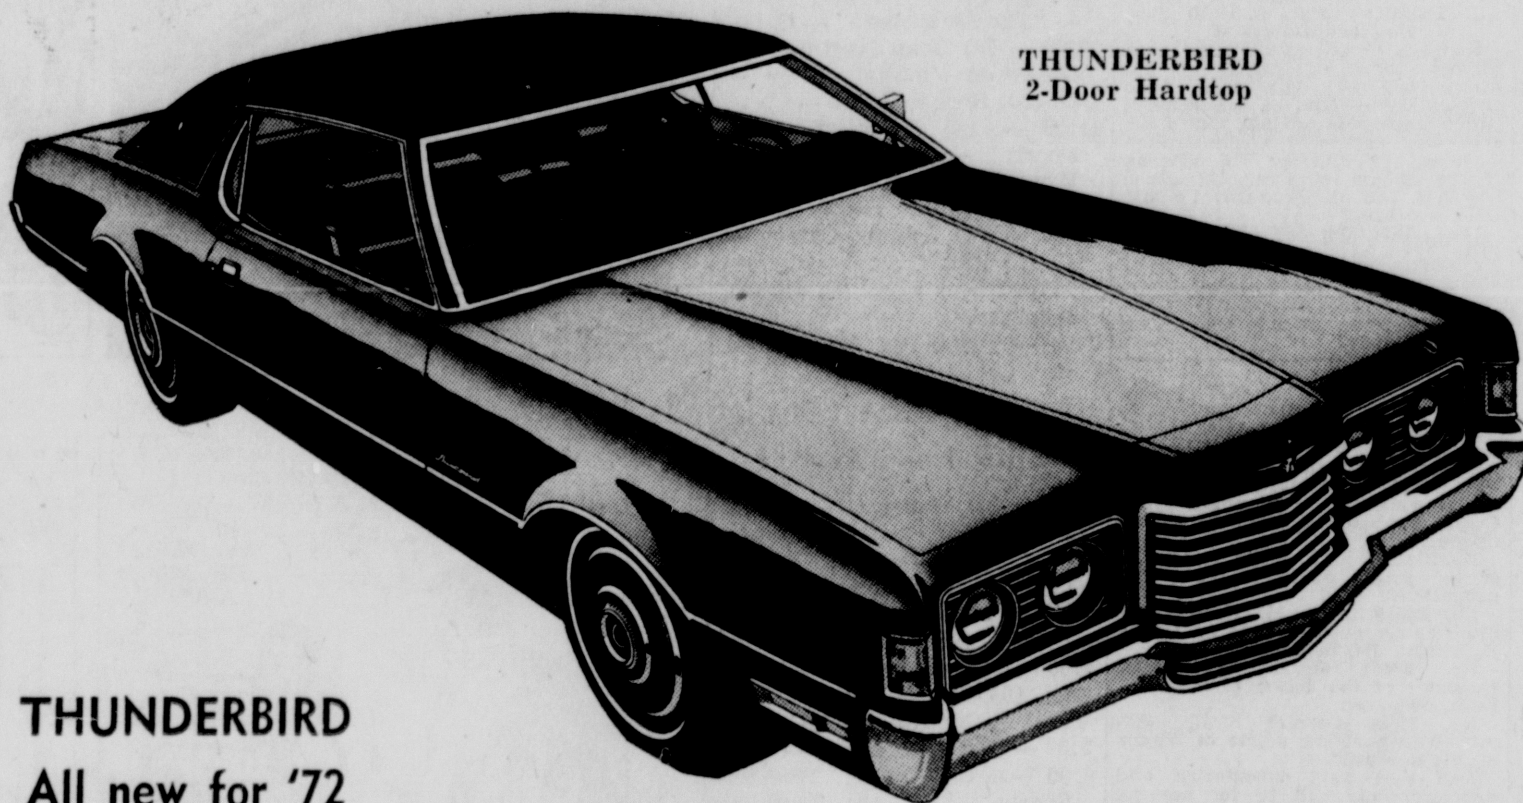

Cooperate with other nations in establishing floor or minimum price levels for major agricultural commodities traded in world markets. This would increase income from agricultural exports and allow U.S. farm price support levels to be raised.

Raise U.S. farm price support levels to remove an inequity in the economy that drains rural areas, not only of farm families but of small businesses and jobs as well, and leads and beats the recession. Correcting this imbalance is an absolute necessity for curing the nation's economic ills.
